TOLL OF SHIPS OFF AMERICA'S SHORES

Since mid-January Axis submarines and mines have taken a toll of more than 400 allied and neutral merchant ships in the western Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean. Map shows magnitude of these sinkings. July figure in chart inset may go higher when all navy reports of sinkings are in.

SHIP TONNAGE SUNK MEN LOST AND SAVED

These losses of men and ship tonnage in the western Atlantic emphasize need for unparalleled action against the submarine menace.

Final Bulletins

Hollanders Told To Expect Call

LONDON — Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Netherlands government in London told the people of his German-occupied homeland tonight that the war tide is starting to turn, and asked them to await a call "to take an active part in the destruction of the tyrant."

To Ration Cars

MONTREAL (CP) — T. C. Lockwood, Dominion transport controller, said today that beginning Sept. 1, there will be a serious shortage of railway refrigerator cars and they will have to be rationed.

Veterans Join Up

Recruiting for the Veterans' Guard, just getting under way in British Columbia, looks "very promising," Lt. Col. H. E. Godman, district recruiting officer, said today. "We need between 200 and 300 men," he said. His recruiting staffs will spend about four weeks in the field.

8 Die in Crash

MELBOURNE (AP) — Eight persons were killed in the collision of two Royal Australian Air Force training planes which fell into the Murray River in South Australia, Air Minister Arthur Drakeford disclosed today.

Britain Pays R.F.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones announced today that during the 12 months ended July 31, Britain paid $38,928,797 interest and principal on its $390,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Britain borrowed the money to pay for part of its war purchases in this country prior to receiving lend-lease assistance.

Girl Gunners Score

LONDON (CP) — A former dressmaker and a maid helped shoot down three of the six German bombers destroyed over Britain in the past 48 hours, it was revealed tonight.

They are members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service who help man anti-aircraft defenses along the east coast.

200 Ship Workers Idle

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two hundred holders-on and plate-hangers at West Coast Shipbuilders Limited today refused to work the morning shift and fear was expressed this afternoon their lay-off soon would hold up the work of riveters, bolters-up and others who cannot work without their co-operation. Cause of the sit-down was not immediately ascertained.

U.S. Planes Bomb Jap Installations

CHUNGKING (AP) — U.S. bombers in an attack on Japanese installations in the vicinity of Hankow, inland centre of the Yangtze River, hit wharves, warehouses and shipping Tuesday, a communique from headquarters said today.

Japanese warplanes attacked Kweilin, 250 miles northwest of Canton, early today and early reports indicated three were shot down, the communique said.

British Commons To Take Recess

LONDON (CP) — While the public still speculated on a possible second front decision, the House of Commons agreed today to a short summer recess, its members reassured by Sir Stafford Cripps that they would be recalled in the event of "any unexpected situation."

Disobedience Threat

India Congress Offers to Fight; Demands Freedom

LONDON (CP) — The working committee of the All-India Congress Party adopted a 1,200-word resolution today, demanding "withdrawal of British powers so as to enable India to become an ally of the United Nations and fight aggressors." Reuters reported from Bombay.

The resolution, Reuters said, declared "a free India will be willing to join the world federation which must, at first and for the duration of the war, start with the United Nations," but added that if necessary the Congress was prepared to launch a civil disobedience struggle under the leadership of M. K. Gandhi.

THE RESOLUTION

By H. R. STIMSON

BOMBAY (AP) — The All-India Congress Party working committee drafted today a resolution recommending Mohandas K. Gandhi be given full powers to lead a civil disobedience movement if Britain rejects a demand for independence.

Also presented to the committee was a proposed resolution which, if accepted by both the working committee and the whole committee meeting here Friday, would pledge the party to armed resistance of any Japanese aggression against India.

This draft resolution states an independent government for India "will wholeheartedly and unreservedly declare itself on the side of the United Nations, agreeing to meet the Japanese or any other aggressor with armed resistance."

The new draft was described as designed to meet "reasonable and constructive" criticisms which followed the British disclosure Tuesday of the draft of a resolution by Mohandas K. Gandhi which stated the first move of an independent government probably would be to negotiate with Japan.

SURE AXIS CAN'T WIN

"On the contrary, I often have expressed the opinion that they cannot win the war if only Britain will once and for all shed her imperialism," said the wizened, ascetic leader of millions of Indians, and champion of immediate independence for his country.

From the resolution to be voted on by the Congress, Friday, the working committee has omitted references calling for dealing with Japan, as included in the original draft put forward by Gandhi. Its adoption is considered a foregone conclusion.

British authorities said they seized the original draft and other documents in a raid on the party's headquarters at Allahabad, prompting their charge that the great majority of the working committee members are "appeasers" of Japan.

Gandhi told interviewers that despite the omission from the resolution of the reference to Japan, at the best of the moderate Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, he still favored negotiations with Tokyo.

WOULD ASK JAPAN

If independence came to India immediately, he said he would ask to be sent to Japan to plead with her to free China, or else "count on the stubborn resistance" of millions of Indians.

While most British observers accepted as timely the release of the text of the seized Gandhi resolution, the Bombay correspondent of the London News Chronicle said in a message to his paper it might prove a "propaganda boomerang," that likely would close gaps in the ranks of Congress leaders and supporters.

(There was no indication in London what action the British were preparing to take to cope with the mass disobedience movement in India if the Congress gives the "go-ahead" at Friday's meeting, as fully expected. Observers there recalled the statement in the House of Commons by Mr. Amery, Secretary for India, July 30, that the government of India will "take every possible step to meet the situation.")

Japs Machinegun Survivors of Ship Sunk in N. Pacific

Survivors of an American freighter, sunk by shellfire from a Japanese submarine in the north Pacific several hundred miles off the west coast the night of July 14, have arrived at Seattle.

They revealed today that crew members were machine-gunned as they drifted away from their flaming vessel in a lifeboat and two rafts.

The submarine attacked the ship at 8 in the evening and scored eight direct hits, finally knocking out her steering engine and setting her afire during the two-hour attack. More than 30 shells were fired.

Two sailors died from shell wounds and six others from exposure when 17 men, huddled on one raft, drifted for four days and nights in the icy seas before rescue. Some of the crew members were not picked up by rescuers until eight days after the attack. All 24 survivors were suffering from exposure.

U.S. Plane Passed Did Not See Survivors

William Kosarich of Pittsburgh, Pa., a radioman, 3rd class, and Milton C. McGahey of St. Joseph, Mo., a signalman, 3rd class, members of the naval detail assigned the ship and the first two survivors to be landed, revealed that a naval plane flew low over the shouting survivors the morning after the sinking that they could see the men in her rear turret but the plane did not spot them.

After that they saw no sign of life until they sighted on the horizon the masts of the ship which eventually picked them up.

Kosarich, a healthy-looking 18-year-old, said he kept on sending out SOS signals and the ship's position at the request of the skipper, Capt. Christian Evenson, San Francisco, even after gunfire had blown the corner off his radio room.

Both youths said the Japs' machine guns swept the lifeboat and rafts as they fled the ship. Survivors on one raft owed their life to the fact that it was in a trough between waves when the machine gun opened fire, they said.

Five of the crew and naval detail on the rafts died before a rescue ship was sighted and were buried at sea. The sixth died the day after the rescue.

The freighter was described as a medium-sized cargo vessel owned by a Pacific coast company.

Men Lay on Deck As Shells Arrived

McGahey said the submarine's aim was poor during the first shelling of the ship and then the shots stopped for about half an hour, while the submersible drew closer. One shell had hit the forecastle.

"It was about 10 o'clock and starting to get dark when she opened up on us again," he related. "We lay on the deck and laughed and joked at first, but after a few shots we could tell that this time it was different."

"First they hit the starboard lifeboat and blew it to bits. Then they hit the wheelhouse and radio shack, and finally the steering engine on the after deck. That put us out of control and set us afire, and we knew we were through. The captain ordered the engines stopped and the ship abandoned."

Saw Bullets Pass Overhead

The remaining lifeboat and the portside life raft were launched. The raft wallowed in a trough between the waves while the 15 survivors huddled down and watched tracer bullets from the submarine's machine guns pass overhead.

"They hit the other raft and the lifeboat," McGahey said. "The fellows in the boat all huddled in the bottom and I don't think anyone was hurt much. But one of the men on the other raft got it in the back and died before morning."

"The other raft was damaged, too. It floated kind of on its edge. We drifted over to them and lashed the two rafts together. The fire on the ship lit up the whole sea like a big bonfire. Soon after she machine-gunned us, the sub pulled away on the surface."

The succeeding days were ones of struggle and suffering, of waves constantly breaking aboard the rafts.

Engineer Died, Men Shared Clothes

"We were all nuts at one time or another," he said. "I was." Seaman Bernard Rodman, hit by a machine-gun bullet, died the first night. Chief engineer A. Amundsen died the next day. The men took off his clothes and gave them to others who didn't have enough."

The third day another man died and on the fourth day, three more.

When the rescue ship was finally sighted, the frantic survivors pounded on the raft as hard as they could to make a noise "so if it happened to be a destroyer they might pick us up on the listening gear."

"Then we all yelled in unison and waved. Finally she started bearing down on us and put out a boat and we were saved."

McGahey said he had "figured" he was good for eight or 10 days on the raft.

"I remembered about those three navy fliers who were drifted 34 days in the south Pacific and I allowed myself a fourth as long because of the colder water," he said.

Italian Ship Sunk

LONDON (CP) — A British submarine in the Mediterranean sank one Italian supply ship and damaged another so severely she had to be beached, the Admiralty announced today.

The ship sunk was the 800-ton Adda. She was fully laden. A number of survivors were picked up by the submarine.

The other ship was severely damaged by the submarine's gunfire before she managed to run ashore under protection of Italian coastal batteries on the east coast of Sardinia.

Singer Wins Freedom

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Opera singer Marion Talley obtained a final decree of divorce today from her former singing coach, Adolph Eckstrom. The decree marked the end of a long series of court actions which began almost with the birth of their daughter, Susan, now seven.

Police Reinforced Race Rioters In Ontario Smash Jew Premises

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont. (CP) — Municipal authorities here waited today for provincial police investigation of disturbances between Jews and Christians, which resulted in the congregation of large crowds on downtown streets last Thursday and Friday, and the request by Police Chief Floyd Gerrard for additional police aid because he had feared trouble.

Reeve N. L. Smith said, Tuesday night, application had been made and granted for police investigation of the disturbances.

One man is being held in jail here on charges of resisting an officer and assault occasioning actual bodily harm following a disturbance last Friday night when a crowd of 3,000 persons filled downtown intersections. Chief Gerrard said the same size crowd had congregated the previous night and following the trouble Friday he had asked for and received eight provincial policemen from the Niagara district to aid his men.

DANCED ON COUNTERS

The officer said that early Sunday morning a mob of men and boys smashed plate glass windows in a Jewish-owned store and hotel, then wrecked shelves and danced on counters.

Chief Gerrard said he feared last week a racial riot was being instigated by two antagonistic factions of Jews and Christians in Crystal Beach, whose normal population of 700 is swelled to thousands by summer visitors.

Streets were cleared and places of business were asked to close three-quarters of an hour earlier Saturday night after a number of disturbances had taken place.

(Crystal Beach is on the Ontario shore of Lake Erie, 10 miles from where Niagara River flows out of the lake and a little farther due west of Buffalo, N.Y.)

Astronomers Here Find Lithium Stars

Lithium, third lightest element, has been identified in at least 19 stars by Drs. A. McKellar and W. H. Stillwell, astronomers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here. Their results have been reported to the members of the American Astronomical Society.

Hitherto, lithium had been found definitely present in only one star, WZ Cassiopeiae. This is an N-type star, often called "red carbon stars," and one of the coolest known, but there are a few score of other N-type stars which did not appear to contain lithium in their atmospheres.

However, the astronomical chemist is constantly improving his technique, particularly by using spectrographs attached to large reflecting telescopes, such as the 72-inch here, one of the world's largest instruments. With a grating spectrograph, Drs. McKellar and Stillwell studied the spectra of 19 red carbon stars and detected the presence of lithium in all but one of them.

The existence of lithium in almost all stars is indicated by this work, but their high temperatures prevent its special lines from showing.

Soviets Leave Belaya Glina To Nazi Tanks

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP) — The Germans were reported landing parachute troops in groups of 100 to 150 and small tanks in the north Caucasus today as the hard-pressed Russians withdrew from the Belaya Glina area to new defence positions in the face of swarms of German armored units.

The navy newspaper Red Fleet said Russian warships in the Sea of Azov were frustrating efforts of the Germans to move reinforcements into the battle south of Rostov by sea. Russian naval guns were reported sinking German ships and shelling German positions along the shore.

The Nazi parachute troops were landing with machine guns and mine throwers, besides small tanks, Red Star said. The parachutists were dropped close to populated points or railway stations. Red Star said the German units hoped to seize communications until motorized help arrived.

Groups of 60 Tanks Smash at Russian Line

Parachutists also were being landed behind the Russian lines in the Belaya Glina sector, where the Germans, sending wave after wave of tanks at the harried Russians, broke through and forced the Soviet withdrawal. The Germans were sending groups of 50 and 60 tanks smashing into the Russian defences.

The German pattern was to pound the Russian lines with dive bombers and then send a force of small tanks at them, followed by heavy tanks, Red Star said. Riding on the tanks were automatic riflemen.

The entire Caucasian front was alive with the Germans battering their way toward Russia's long-desired oil treasures, and the Russians announced another new withdrawal in the Tsimlyansk sector. It was there that the Red Army had been trying to stem the flow of German reinforcements over newly-established Don River bridgeheads.

The entire nation was aware of the fast-developing and critical situation in the Caucasus and the newspaper Pravda, in a message to soldiers and civilians alike, appealed: "More firmness."

Lands Minister Hurries To Save Scenic Timber

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, accompanied by Chief Forester C. D. Orchard, hurried north by car from Victoria for Butte Lake today in an effort to save for the public great stands of scenic timber at the entrance to Strathcona Park.

Premier Hart said last week the B.C. government would be willing to exchange on an equitable basis Crown timber for the scenic timber now being logged by Elk River Timber Company.

Logging was not stopped by the Premier's offer, and it was to save as much damage as possible that the minister went as quickly as possible today to open negotiations with the timber company at the actual scene of operations.

and stubbornness and the enemy will be stopped."

Izvestia described the situation as tense, with the Germans concentrating superior numbers of troops and large tank forces in the Belaya Glina area while dive-bombers rained bombs on the wearying Russian defenders. The paper added without explanation that Russian strength is growing and that the southern commanders realize the German offensive must be stopped.

Of the withdrawal at Belaya Glina, the midday communique said:

"In the Belaya Glina area our troops fought a heavy engagement with enemy tanks and motorized units which had broken through. Our troops withdrew to new defensive positions."

The German pressure was heavy, too, at Kuschchevka, south of Rostov, where the Russians have fought stubbornly and unyieldingly and now face the possibility of being cut off by the German troops moving southwestward from Belaya Glina.

One infantry formation at Dushchevka was credited in the midday bulletin with destroying six German tanks and much equipment and killing about 550 Germans. Three thousand in all were reported wiped out in engagements in this sector.

Nazis Claim Capture Of Kropotkin Junction

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP) — The German high command claimed today German SS (elite guard) forces have taken the important railway junction at Kropotkin by storm after hard fighting and that bridge-heads have been established across the Kuban River between Kropotkin and Armavir, 40 miles to the south.

Altogether, the Kuban, an important northwest Caucasus river which flows north and west into the Black Sea, has been reached along a 60-mile front, a communique said.

Kropotkin, 125 miles by air southeast of Rostov, is on an oil pipeline and railway from the Caspian Sea to Rostov and on another railway which links Krasnodar on the west and Voroshilovsk on the east.

The rapid motorized thrust southward has cut off several Soviet columns, the communique said.

Freeze' Electric Irons

OTTAWA (CP) — The Department of Munitions and Supply announced today that Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson has banned manufacture of electric toasters, electric irons and electric fans after Aug. 15.

The order rescinds a previous one limiting output to 50 per cent of 1940 production.

Manufacture of many other electrical appliances—grills, percolators, stoves for glass coffee makers, teakettles, boilers, food mixers, sandwich toasters, roasters, waffle irons and other items—was banned previously.

Banks Here Begin Over-Counter Sale

Over-the-counter sale of War Savings Certificates will begin in all banks and post offices here tomorrow.

For the first time a buyer will be able to put down his money and receive a registered certificate without sending the money to Ottawa and then waiting weeks for the certificate. Sales will be in $5, $10 and $25 denominations.

India's Freedom Demand Nears Dramatic Climax

By PRESTON GROVER

NEW DELHI (AP)—One of the most dramatic political duels of modern times is heading toward a showdown with ascetic Mohandas Gandhi and his Nationalist Indian colleagues once more challenging Britain to give them the independence they demand, war or no war.

The fight has been going on for 20 years, but never before has it come to such a climactic stage during the course of a war. This time only last-minute intervention by an outside party such as the United States or a backdown by either side appears to give the slightest promise of stopping the anti-British movement which will be considered by the All-India Congress at its meeting in Bombay Friday.

If a conflict is permitted to begin and should develop to the proportions of the 1930 civil disobedience movement, it might interfere seriously with the war effort.

Gandhi and the Congress working committee have demanded immediate independence of India and withdrawal of British authority except for maintenance of military forces during the war. That action by the board of directors of the biggest nationalist organization is subject to ratification by the Bombay meeting but, from the hour Gandhi proposed the latest rebellion many weeks ago, it was considered certain the Congress would approve it.

Claim Independence Needed for Defence

But this time the demand for independence has taken a new aspect. Congress leaders are insisting that independence is the best course for a proper defence these premises:

1. The masses of the people do not like British rule and will not fight enthusiastically to preserve India as a part of the British Empire.

2. Without mass support, British rule will be confronted with the same situation she found in Malaya and in Burma, where the local population either was apathetic or definitely pro-Japanese.

3. One thing alone would galvanize India's masses into an anti-Japanese attitude: The assurance they are fighting for their own country and not merely to protect British rule.

4. Transfer of government from British to Indian hands could be effected without disorder or hindrance to the war effort.

The British position on these points runs something like this: 1. Large numbers of Britons, official and nonofficial, agree that British rule has not won the love of the Indians and that independence or at least Dominion status is certain, sooner or later. Many agree that the breach between Britons and Indians has widened steadily and perhaps faster since the abortive peace gesture by Sir Stafford Cripps last spring.

Strong Sentiment Against Invasion

2. Officials contend, however, that while the Indian population is not pro-British, there is strong sentiment against Japanese invasion and Indian soldiers forming the main line of defence will fight loyally.

3. They doubt whether any real improvement in sentiment would be brought about by the granting of independence now.

4. They contend a change in government at this time would invite anarchy and certainly would be more hazardous than to ride through on the present basis. To grant independence before adjustment of the Moslem-Hindu differences would invite conflict. The main Moslem organization won't accept independence unless the Moslems are permitted to set up themselves as a nation separate from the Hindus. The Hindus say they won't permit India to be split into fragments. And Britain says she won't grant independence until the Hindus and Moslems agree.

London Papers Express Opinions

LONDON (CP)—Editorial opinion in today's London newspapers was summarized by the Daily Mail's demand that "we must take a firm attitude in India if we are to save ourselves and the Indian peoples."

"The official disclosures have been well-timed," the Mail said. "Once again they show the Allies, and particularly America, that at this moment of supreme peril there can be no compromising with the irresponsibility, and worse, of Gandhi and his Congress appeasers."

"The truth is that the Congress Party is playing politics at a moment when the liberties to which they are paying lip service are in desperate danger."

The News Chronicle commented that the seized documents "are a reminder of the deplorable deterioration of British-Indian relations during the last four months and of the possibilities of high tragedy now lurking only just around the corner." The paper continued:

"By its apparent determination to thwart the British defence of India by civil disobedience, the Congress is placing itself in a position in which action by the British authorities could only too easily seem to be unavoidable... Action may be forced upon us. But it will not help to make martyrs of the Congress leaders."

The Times said Gandhi's draft "seems with unreality," and added:

"It is hard to say which is the worse aspect of the proposal—the self-deception which could contemplate a parley with a man-eating tiger (Japan), or the employment of freedom to betray the cause of the United Nations, including Russia and China."

Promoted

MAJOR W. C. TOWERS
Former commander of the "Mad Fourth" battalion in France, in the last war, Major W. C. Towers, Toronto, commanding officer of No. 25 basic training camp at Simcoe, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Prior to taking over command at Simcoe, he was commanding officer at No. 20 training centre, Brantford.

Atlantic Charter Not Binding, Says Lord Bennett

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Bennett declared in the House of Lords today that "nothing, in my judgment, could be more fatal than that we were undertaking in this kingdom to make the terms of peace for the Allied powers fighting against the Axis."

"It would be resented," added the former Canadian Prime Minister, "not only among those with equal status with ourselves, namely the Dominions, but it would be resented equally by people in other lands associated with us in the war."

Lord Bennett spoke in a debate opened by Lord Davies, who proposed the establishment of an inter-Allied commission at the end of the war, to consider the implications of the Atlantic Charter and the Anglo-Soviet treaty.

The Atlantic Charter, said Lord Bennett, is not a treaty but merely an expression of the hopes and aspirations of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

In the United States, he said, legislation giving force to the operation of declarations in the charter could become effective only after Senate approval. That was the reason why there was a treaty with Russia, but no treaty with the United States, Lord Bennett said, because it was by no means certain that the result might not be the same as when President Wilson gave his approval to the League of Nations.

14 POINTS

Lord Bennett recalled the fate of the 14 points and added "nothing would be more fatal than to make a declaration of our views with respect to peace and then have our enemies, defeated, saying they had relied on statements which we made, but which we couldn't give effect to because they were our declarations and not the declarations of everyone concerned with us."

He cautioned against attaching too much importance to speeches made by men in public life in the United States on matters of this type.

Here, he said, the Prime Minister could bind the government and the country or else go out of office in an endeavor to give effect to his conclusions. In the United States, he added, that is not the case.

"It would be extremely ill-considered for the government to do other than express its views as to what we are struggling for," said Lord Bennett. "That's one thing. To say that we are going to endeavor to impose it upon someone is another."

SIMON'S VIEWS

Viscount Simon, Lord Chancellor, in reply did not agree that the charter was vague or nebulous. The most significant and hopeful feature of the charter, he said, was not the unilateral declaration, but the pledge of co-operation not only in framing plans for peace, but in carrying them out.

"If that is achieved, there is no place in history too high to put this document," he said. Everything that had been said about the Atlantic Charter by United States statesmen, Lord Simon said, had confirmed the resolve of the American government to act in a spirit of co-operation.

Lord Simon stated the government is in entire agreement with a recent speech by State Secretary Cordell Hull of the United States on postwar affairs and said the government's aim was not to impose international authority on the world after the war.

The government should aim rather at getting complete agreement between as many sovereign communities as possible, Lord Simon added, so that as a result of consent and not as a result of externally-applied force, this international authority would be able to speak in the name of all decent people.

The proposed commission, as suggested by Lord Davies, would submit proposals for the closest possible collaboration among the United Nations in postwar construction.

Lord Davies warned that people are apt to look askance at slogans and declarations unless they are told how these aims are to be accomplished, "although the majority of the people recognize the good intentions of the government and leaders of public opinion."

Orders Own Rescue

FORT BLISS, Tex. (AP)—Sgt. Clyde Russ got beyond his depth while splashing about in Ascariate Lake. He said his cries for help went unheeded—until he yelled. In desperation, "Rescue me at once! This is an order!" Two buddies quickly jumped in and dragged him ashore.

Tells Congressman

'You're a Liar' Headline Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Under the heading "You're a Liar, Congressman Holland," the Daily News Tuesday night printed an editorial page statement signed by its publisher, Joseph M. Patterson, in connection with a declaration made in Congress Tuesday by the Pennsylvania Democratic representative, E. J. Holland of Pittsburgh, concerning the publishers of the News and of the Washington Times-Herald.

Preceding the statement, the News printed a facsimile of a News dispatch which quoted Holland as saying in Congress that the two publishers were "doing their best to bring about a Fascist victory—hoping, that in that victory, they will be rewarded."

"The following statement," said Capt. Patterson, "is not privileged, but unlike Holland's is true: What Holland said about me and my sister (Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Washington Times-Herald) is a lie. We are not 'Hitler followers.' We do not seek to bring about a Fascist victory hoping to be rewarded afterwards..."

"To repeat: Congressman Holland: You are a liar. Make what you like of that."

(Signed) "Joseph M. Patterson." Patterson's signed editorial and a facsimile of the News dispatch were printed in the Washington Times-Herald followed by this statement over the name of its publisher, Mrs. Eleanor M. Patterson:

"To the above statement I heartily subscribe. You are a liar, Congressman Holland. And you know it."

Circus Goes On

CLEVELAND, O.—Ringling's Circus performed again today, despite a setback Tuesday, when fire swept its menagerie tent and killed two-score animals.

John Ringling North tentatively estimated the loss at $200,000. He said a fire officer had told him he believed sparks from a train, passing by on the lake front, had started the blaze.

Shipyards Reopen

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced today that 23 British shipyards which had been closed during the shipbuilding depression of recent years had been reopened. The statement was issued in denial of reports published in Britain that many shipyards were unused.

M.P.'s Told of Gains

Output of Guns Greatly Speeded

LONDON (CP)—Britain's 42 government ordnance factories are producing 4½ times as many guns as a year ago and twice as many as they were originally intended to turn out, Sir Andrew Duncan, Supply Minister, told the House of Commons today.

He said that although 60 per cent of the 300,000 workers now engaged at the plants are women, the output per worker had increased 40 per cent in the past year.

Opening a Parliamentary debate on criticism of government arms factories in a committee report, the Supply Minister said the plants had "improved beyond what was reasonable to expect."

In 30 of the factories, he said, the work week had been reduced to 60 hours or less for men and 55 or less for women. He added it was hoped to bring the other factories down to that hour level, also, because "we are likely to get greater production in those factories were the hours reasonable."

WIDE SURVEYS

Sir Andrew said that "even if it is necessary to dissent" from some conclusions of the committee whose report criticized certain arms firms, he accepted it as "constituting a call for stock-taking both in the organization and in the functioning of the national factories organization."

"This country has every reason to be proud of this effort in state enterprise, and no one connected with it has any other motive than that it should be made still more effective."

(The public accounts committee rapped the ministry of aircraft production July 23 in a report dealing with excess profits charges and accounts which allegedly were kept secret by the British Manufacture and Research Company Ltd., British Thomson, Houston and Company Ltd., and Barr and Stroud Ltd.)

Meanwhile, Col. J. J. Llewellyn, Minister of Aircraft Production, announced the British Manufacture and Research Company Ltd., one of the firms named in the committee's report, has refunded a "considerable" sum of money to the ministry by way of adjustment of provisional prices paid for an aircraft gun it produces.

No Living Bonuses For Soldiers' Wives

OTTAWA (CP)—Increased cost-of-living bonuses, payable after Aug. 15, do not mean anything to the wives of officers and men in the armed forces because they are not eligible for bonuses. Dependents' Allowance Board officials said today. There have been frequent representations made to the government for payment of the bonus to dependents of those in the forces but no action has yet been taken.

West Indies Endangered

LONDON (CP)—Unless the Caribbean U-boat campaign is overcome there may be great difficulty in maintaining standards in the British West Indies. Colonial Under-Secretary Harold MacMillan told the House of Commons today. Every effort is being made to increase local production of foodstuffs, he said.

Gallup Poll

6 Out of 10 on Coast
Expect Jap Air Raids
Before Summer's End

TORONTO—Out on Canada's Pacific coast today, more than six out of every 10 adults are going about their business haunted by a conviction that an enemy air raid is likely before the end of summer.

This grim fact should jolt the apathy of those in other parts of Canada who are inclined to be skeptical as to the need for air raid precautions.

Of all the provinces, British Columbia, which has already had a taste of shelling at Vancouver Island, feels itself most vulnerable to air attack, and is the only province in which a majority of the population feel an air raid is likely.

A few weeks ago, an Institute survey showed that over a third of Canada's city folk were dissatisfied with the way air raid precautions were being handled in their communities. Chief criticism of these people, as expressed to Gallup interviewers, was that residents of their communities were not taking the need for defence against air attack seriously enough.

This is borne out to some extent by the latest Gallup survey, which was based on the question: "Do you think an air raid on this province is at all likely this summer?"

Taken as a nation, most Canadians do not expect such an attack on their own province, as the following national figures show: Think air raid likely, 24 per cent; think air raid unlikely, 65 per cent; undecided, 11 per cent.

Incidentally, the number of Canadians undecided on this point has dropped a lot since a rather similar question was put last December, a few weeks after Pearl Harbor. Asked at that time whether they thought an air raid on their neighborhood was likely, 15 per cent expected bombings, 49 per cent did not, and as many as 36 per cent did not hazard an opinion. The figures are not entirely comparable with today's result, because in the December survey, no time limit was mentioned, whereas in the latest survey, the public was asked whether it thought an air raid likely this summer.

While the above table shows that, over the nation as a whole, more than six out of every 10 Canadians do not think an air raid likely this summer, people of British Columbia, taken by themselves, reverse the national total.

Men and women in the three prairie provinces feel themselves

most immune to air attack, at least for this summer, and in this part of Canada, 83 per cent of those interviewed say they do not expect their province to be bombed.

In the Maritimes, while the majority do not think an air attack is at all likely, there is much more indecision about it, with 20 per cent saying they do not know what to expect.

The province of Quebec, which has had the war brought to its front door through ship sinkings in the St. Lawrence River, is actually more apprehensive of an air attack than the sea-girt Maritimes.

Here is the way the three eastern areas of Canada—Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes—feel about the likelihood of an air raid on their respective provinces this fall:

	On-Que-Mari-	Que-Mari-	Que-Mari-
	Que-Mari-	Que-Mari-	Que-Mari-
Think air raid likely...	16	36	15
Think air raid unlikely...	77	51	85
Undecided...	7	13	20

Australia Sends Food
To Prisoners of Japs

SYDNEY (AAP)—Australia's first shipment of food and medical supplies for prisoners of war in Japanese hands will consist of 1,200 tons of material valued at £1,000,000 ($3,550,000).

The shipment, soon to leave the Commonwealth, will be joined with 5,000 tons from other Allied countries and will be transferred to a Japanese ship at a neutral port.

The Australian Red Cross will meet the cost of this shipment and the others to follow, as well as share in the cost of goods sent from other countries.

The material, carefully chosen for its food value by the Red Cross and the Commonwealth government, will consist of tinned milk, tinned sausages, margarine, dried egg, currants, dried milk, condensed milk, jam, dried fruits, biscuits, coffee and other goods. Also included will be soap.

Hunt for Jap Ships

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Far Eastern fleet is plying the Bay of Bengal, off eastern India, in search for Japanese war and merchant ships, a routine Admiralty communiqué has disclosed.

One Japanese flying boat was shot down by a naval fighter, the communiqué said, indicating the presence of a British aircraft carrier. No Japanese ships were sighted.

Look to Farms
For Men for Forces

REGINA (CP)—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture, in an interview here said there were 429,000 single men or widowers without children on farms in Canada and 595,000 working as clerks or in transportation and industry.

These were only two large pools of single men from which recruits for the armed forces could be obtained, he said, and because there was little unemployment in Canada in any age group, there was no source from which men could be obtained for farms.

"If we must have more men for the armed forces, some of them will have to come off the farms as well as out of industry," Mr. Gardiner said.

Honor Grenfell's Memory

ST. ANTHONY, Nfld. (CP)—A tablet was unveiled here Tuesday commemorating the 50th anniversary of the landing of Sir Wilfred Grenfell on the isolated Labrador shore and the commencement of his lifetime of devotion to the people of northern Newfoundland and Labrador, Sir Wilfred died in 1940.

The tablet was unveiled by Dr. Charles S. Curtis, successor to Sir Wilfred as "the Labrador doctor."

AN S.O.S. CALL

The members of the jam-making project for the bombed-out children of Britain are deeply concerned at the lack of public support for this plan. The workers, sugar, tins and suitable quarters are all there, but the fruit is lacking.

We appreciate the fact that certain difficulties exist this season that were absent in 1941. Poorer crops, lack of pickers, and difficulty of transport as well as higher prices, militate against our receiving the abundance of fruit that poured in on us last year.

Nevertheless, we feel that there must be many noncommercial gardens and plots from which fruit could be donated if their owners fully realized the great importance of this work. One hundred thousand pounds is the quota set and we have been asked to do our share. At this date last year we had already processed 2,400 pounds, this year we have only made 600 pounds in the same period.

If people have fruit of any sort that they can donate but are unable to pick it, and it is within a car or bus ride, the committee will endeavor to find pickers. Those further out or on adjacent islands are asked to pick the fruit and address it to "The Jam Making Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Sunshine Inn, Pandora Avenue, Victoria." Give it to the Island Freight for transport and it will be taken care of at this end. Cases of commercial fruit will also be gladly accepted. Jam is made on Tuesday and Friday. Deliveries are asked for on Monday and Thursday if possible.

This jam goes to Britain to assist in building up the health of the children who have been bombed out of their homes and in many cases left parentless.

The future of the British race rests on the children and Britain is the cradle of that race.

At the end of the season, let it not be said that Victoria and vicinity, whose inhabitants so largely claim Britain as their birthplace, failed to support adequately this most important work.

Rally round your committee, for it is yours, and can only be successful with your co-operation and enable it to complete its work.

VIOLET J. RAYMENT,
Organizer of the Jam Making Project under the auspices of the Red Cross.

TEA AND MORALE

May I through this paper ask a question? I don't want to sound selfish about the rationing of tea and coffee, but don't you think it is a "little" stiff? We housewives are asked day in and day out, to keep up our husbands' morale, and keep their stomachs filled, but it is getting rather hard to do so with so little sugar and now tea.

I know we don't require too much sugar, but do you realize there are very few things one cooks that does not call for sugar? Regarding the tea, Sunday is a day of rest, I'll grant you, but why do our stomachs have to take a rest? Sunday is the only day some of our husbands in the shipyards have off. They are doing their bit, so why should they be deprived of their tea? Also, if our husbands take tea to work, poor wife goes without for lunch, and you know a woman works hard in the house and a cup of tea keeps up her morale.

Don't you think it would be a lot fairer in this rationing to give us four ounces of coffee and four ounces of tea? There must be lots in the country, because the men who figured it out said themselves we drank six cups a day. Well, why not give us half anyway? We like tea in Canada as well as England. By giving us both tea and coffee, you can make it go a lot farther.

Also the sugar—why can't we have a little extra brown sugar for cooking, as we can't get honey now? It is much more expensive going to the bakery for everything, and nowadays we have to keep a budget, and it doesn't add for much extra for dainties. So let's get together and see if something can't be done to be a bit more lenient on the tea and sugar situation. We women are doing our part in the house, so keep us good-tempered, or else we're going to be poor-cooks.

Hoping all the ladies who agree with me will back this up.
MRS. S. DAVIDSON,
344 Niagara Street.

Removing the Stain

ALTHOUGH THE SORDID PROGRESS of events since Sept. 3, 1939, had demolished the treaty signed in Munich a year earlier, Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, formally announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that Great Britain "will not be influenced by any changes effected in and since 1939" in settling Czechoslovakia's frontiers after the war. In other words, the document bearing the signatures of Neville Chamberlain, Edouard Daladier, Benito Mussolini, and Adolf Hitler takes its official place in that collection of odious records which all lovers of liberty will try to forget.

It is fitting that Mr. Eden should have chosen this particular time to perform the final obsequies on an act which shocked the decent world and brought Britain's prestige to the lowest ebb in her long and proud history. On this day four years ago Lord Runciman had arrived in Prague with the authority of the Chamberlain government to "mediate" what was then known as the "Sudeten problem." His object was to prevent a breakdown in the negotiations between Konrad Henlein—Hitler's tool and the leader of the Sudeten Germans within the boundaries of the independent sovereign state of Czechoslovakia—and Dr. Hodza, Czech Prime Minister, and to see if it was possible to find some way out of the dilemma. Even while these conversations were proceeding, Germany was rushing work on the Siegfried Line, and the Reich's military manoeuvres—the greatest since 1914—were mystifying those elements which regarded all Mr. Churchill's warnings as merely the outpourings of a fanatical scaremonger.

The Runciman mission was little better than an admission on the part of the British and French governments that London and the Quai d'Orsay had "missed the bus" when they condoned Hitler's march into the demilitarized Rhineland. It was foredoomed to failure; appeasement had permeated the official atmosphere in the British and French capitals. An editorial in The Times of London a month later gave the British Foreign Office its cue; in effect, it argued that it would be criminal to consider the Sudeten question as of sufficient importance to risk war. The "three flights" of the Prime Minister followed—and the two dictators scored their diabolical victory.

Mr. Eden, incidentally, must have found particular pleasure in announcing the formal obsequies of the wretched Munich agreement. He was the first minister to denounce the international policy of the Chamberlain government; he resigned on Feb. 21, 1938, because he steadfastly refused, as Foreign Secretary, to deal with blackmailer Mussolini. The Prime Minister and Mr. Eden's successor, Lord Halifax, visited Rome a few months after Munich and were feted by Benito in celebration of the promulgation of a mutual economic pact.

We Learn Slowly

NOTWITHSTANDING WAR AND OTHER good reasons, motorists and pedestrians have not progressed far in learning that the automobile can be a dangerous instrument. So concludes the report of the British Columbia government's insurance branch covering the last year. As figured by the insurance statisticians, the rate at which we are learning to be careful is indicated by the drop in the loss ratio from 52 per cent in 1940 to 47.53 per cent during the last year. This is not much of a decline when viewed against the background of the decrease in pleasure driving since early in the war and of all the efforts to induce motorists to drive more slowly and carefully.

The records show more than 40,000 persons killed, 1,500,000 injured and more than 1,000,000 cars damaged on this continent during the last year. The Travelers Insurance Company (U.S.) comments on this record as follows: "The nation, if it is to succeed in its victory program, simply cannot afford a continuation of this waste of life, of man-hours, of hospital space, of machinery and of morale. The record of death and injury is one that should leave every citizen with a sense of shame and should move every one of us to resolve that it shall never happen again."

Appropriately, Mr. H. G. Garrett, the superintendent of insurance, suggests that we in British Columbia might well take that warning to heart, especially the concluding words. He points out that the car could not be blamed for size of the accident toll, as 90 per cent of the cars were in good mechanical condition. Under war restrictions as to tires and increasing difficulties of replacing parts, however, the car will be a more important factor. Every car on the road will be used as long as it will travel and the tires hold out. Gasoline rationing and the reduction of the speed limit to 40 miles an hour should combine to reduce the casualty toll. But they are not enough; the record talks only in cold figures. It is the human factor alone which can resolve to do better.

Critics of wizard Henry J. Kaiser tell him he can't do the impossible. Leave it to him.

Time to Take Risks

NOT SO VERY LONG AGO MARITIME traditionalists in the United States were not taking Henry J. Kaiser seriously; they were convinced it was beyond his capacity to turn out cargo boats. Solid achievements in record time presumably have changed their thinking. In other words, as Walter Lippmann puts it, before anyone goes overboard and announces that shipbuilders cannot make flying freight boats, let him note how the skeptics have been fooled—thanks to courage and the adaptation of an inherent inventive genius. Nearly two years ago Henry Ford had a suggestion for building many planes a day; he got little or no encouragement from Washington to try out his plan. From a building that was constructed after months of discussion one heavy bomber is rolling out every two hours. Now submarine expert Simon Lake proposes giant underwater cargo vessels that will deliver men and supplies to any part of the world—another challenge to the U-boat menace and something new for the scoffers to argue about.

What our neighbor does in respect of these proposals, of course, is the business of Washington; but the strategy of the United Nations is now so closely interwoven that anything which promises a solution for one of their main problems becomes the immediate concern of every government of the combined democratic coalition. Laymen have neither the knowledge nor are they in a position to speculate on the suggestions of such experts as Mr. Kaiser and Mr. Lake. The former's proposal, however, need not boast of either the merit of novelty or newness; months ago Grover Loening, in an article in National Aeronautics, analyzed both the military and economic advantages of huge flying freighters. He wrote in part: "In the immediately 'predictable future' transportation of most armament materials, of all troops and personnel, and practically all light and heavy loads of destructive munitions, will have to be transported by air and deposited by air in order to win a war across the Atlantic." Well, then, if Kaiser, according to experts, could not build cargo boats—but did—would it not be folly to dismiss as impractical his proposal to convert his own shipyards for the construction of aerial liners without careful scrutiny in every particular, especially in view of Loening's thesis? A similar question may well be addressed to the plan of Mr. Lake, who is an outstanding submarine authority.

Before this war began the democratic world refused to believe that Hitler had any particular surprise to spring. After he had subdued Poland in three weeks we were confidently assured by "experts" that he would not be so foolish as to tackle the Maginot Line. But he had developed a technique which overcame this and many other supposedly insurmountable obstacles—material and political. Now that the conflict is nearly three years old, and especially in view of the fact that he controls all of continental Europe in the military sense, the course of the United Nations necessarily will have to be a great deal bolder than it has been. More risks will have to be taken. Our whole process of thinking will require to undergo a radical change if we are to anticipate new tricks the enemy may be contemplating.

Nehru Then and Now

FIVE MONTHS AGO IN NEW YORK THE East and West Association celebrated the traditional friendship which for long has existed between China and India. To that gathering Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, now committed to a policy that may produce serious chaos in India, radioed the following message:

"During long ages past India and China have essentially held the same ideals which have given them strength. So in the present and in the future they will hold to them and to each other. Greetings!"

Mr. Nehru has arrived in Bombay to assist the All-India Congress Party in its plan to demand immediate independence from Great Britain, or, failing that, he will argue in support of an active campaign of "nonviolent non-co-operation"—which might result in unpredictable general tumult that would be of incalculable value to the Axis nation which is desperately trying to press China for the kill.

How does Pandit Nehru reconcile his promise that India and China will hold "to each other" with his advocacy of a policy that he knows is fraught with grave and immediate consequences, not only to his own country, but also to the land now depending as never before on a real patriot—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek?

Notes

British Information Bureau authorizes the statement that 500 warships of all classes, including 160 destroyers and 190 corvettes, have been built in British Empire shipyards since the war began. We hear about what our own yards are doing; but little about the yards in Britain. The latter, according to a London newspaper, have produced "an average of nearly one warship every two days since the war started."

From 46,000 three years ago, the total number of persons on the "official" civil service payroll of the federal government has increased to 90,000, and the increase is continuing at the rate of 1,500 a month. Ottawa's total of civil servants has nearly trebled—from 11,800 three years ago to 28,500 today. Civil service personnel in Ottawa and in some other centres is so far outrunning the ability of the government to provide office space, that some departments are reported considering abandonment of the 9-to-5 hours and putting the service on a two-shift basis, like workers in war industries.

Britain at War

SHABBY, GRIM, DETERMINED
British Information Service
From London

IT IS ALMOST three years since Britain went to war. During that time, daily life has become more and more Spartan. New restrictions will make it even more rigorous.

These restrictions will be borne, as all the others have been, grimly but willingly. The British people are determined that nothing whatever shall stand between them and victory. They will see it through if they have to do it barefoot, hungry and in rags.

A development that seems likely to involve many hardships next winter is the call for the saving of 10,000,000 tons of coal annually. Domestic consumption has to be cut by 6,000,000 tons, while the remaining 4,000,000 tons are to be saved through economies by larger coal users.

The appearance of the people reflects the Spartan principle of life. Old clothes are being renovated to such an extent that shops doing this work are unable to keep pace with the orders. In one large London shoe repairing shop there are 15,000 pairs of shoes waiting to be fixed, and new orders cannot be filled for three or four weeks.

The firms that undertake "invisible mending" of stockings are requiring two weeks for deliveries, and the whole stocking situation is so acute that there will shortly be special shops where stockings can be resoled and reheeled from salvaged material which has been cleaned and sterilized.

In every big store you can now get shirts recollared and recuffed from material taken off the shirt-tail. You can get a woman's suit made up from a man's tailcoat and trousers.

About 25,000 firms will be involved in the most drastic concentration yet carried out in the clothing industry, and 1,000 of the smaller concerns are expected to close as a result of the new rulings. Many women employees will thus be released for munition work.

Since Aug. 1 no more articles that are not considered strictly useful are manufactured. There is no more making of ornamental glassware, coffee percolators, soup spoons, metal or rubber toys, jewelry, leather trunks, eyebrow tweezers, and other products.

Pots and pans will continue to be manufactured, and other articles, such as blankets, towels, sheets and tablecloths will be produced as "utility" products.

Severe rules have been drawn up regarding salvage. If you waste or unnecessarily burn paper you are liable to a fine of $25. If rags, rope and string are mixed with other classifications in the back-door salvage dumps you may be fined $500, or imprisoned for three months.

The London stores have cut down their electricity consumption by 50 per cent. There are no more lights in basements and no more hot water in the cloakrooms; and only half the elevators are in use. All window and showcase lights have been extinguished for the duration.

Less water for baths, and fewer baths, is urged. The Pilsnoll line of a bath is set at a five-inch level, and the official injunction is: "Have a bath every other day."

ANNIVERSARY IN VIENNA

From New York Times

Eight years ago, July 25, Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria, was murdered. Though Hitler did not seize the little republic at the crossroads of Europe until four years later, the assassination marked the beginning of the end of a free Austria. The Nazi putsch failed, but this first attempt of Nazism to strike across the Reich's border had its deadly repercussions upon the rest of Europe.

Austria has paid a heavy price for Anschluss, for it has borne the Nazi yoke longer than any other conquered land. Under the iron rule of the Gestapo it has become a Prussian province with concentration camps for unruly elements. Merry-making for the once happy Viennese has long been a thing of the past. Their parks have become labor camps. Their music is drowned out by the goose-stepping Wehrmacht.

But four years of Nazi rule have not broken the Austrian spirit. Even the comparatively small pro-Nazi elements in Austria are said today to be as disillusioned as the rest of the country. Austrian Quislings have had to be content with subordinate posts. They have never received their reward for bootlicking. Over their heads, Hitler and his lieutenants have looted the country systematically. But they have failed utterly in their efforts to pacify this subjugated nation. For all Austrians life now holds two things only: Bitter recollections and duty—the duty to hold out under the Nazi yoke until delivery comes.

STAKE IN A SECOND FRONT

From St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Why is the creation of a second front in Europe vital to Americans as well as to Russians? One paragraph in Newsweek gives the answer in compact, convincing form, and without directly mentioning the subject:

"Watch Russia for the key to the future of the draft. If the Soviets hold, it may be unnecessary to draft many family men. If they don't, then all bets are off and the government may have to take almost every one able to carry a gun, except those engaged in vital war work, to raise an army of 12,000,000 to 15,000,000."

That sums it all up: The far longer war, the mounting casualty lists, the immensely greater costs that will result if the Russians collapse through failure of their allies to attack Hitler in the west in time to relieve the tremendous pressure on the Red army.

Germany's Newest Fighter

(Cable to Financial Post, Toronto)

LONDON.

Although some analysts of combat reports disagree, pilots' accounts and German evidence confirm the belief that in the new Focke-Wulf FW 190 the enemy has the best all-round fighter in action anywhere in the world today.

The margin of superiority is slim, the numbers in service relatively small, and the new Allied fighter types coming out will swing the balance. Furthermore, the Focke-Wulf factory at Bremen, where the 190 is made, has been well and truly bombed. Production there has been cut down seriously.

High spots in the performance of the 190 are these:

Maximum speed is about 380 miles an hour at 19,000 feet; the rate of climb and ceiling is very high; according to German reports the armament is very heavy and includes cannon and machine guns; it is well protected with armor; manoeuvrability is average; diving speed very great.

GOOD WHERE IT COUNTS

Thus the German machine is good in all fighting qualities that matter. It has a well-balanced design, compared with Messerschmitts, in which speed and climb are the only outstanding qualities.

The most striking feature of the 190, and a feature from which its success is gained, is the new BMW 801 14-cylinder two-row, air-cooled, radial motor. Apart from the United States Thunderbolt Lancer and Corsair, no other up-to-date fighter today has a radial motor. All of them swung over to the sleeker, liquid-cooled types. BMW installation in the 190 is probably the most advanced job of its kind in existence.

STEAL FROM U.S.

Its excellence is not so much in the engine itself, blatantly derived from the United States Pratt & Whitney Twin-Wasp, except for advanced direct injection, but in the cowling and cooling of the motor. The cowling is so clean and carefully designed that it has probably saved several hundred horsepower otherwise wasted. A very small cooling orifice is used, and forced draught is gained with a 12-bladed fan geared to the air-screw. It provides good cooling with little drag at the takeoff and in the climb. Cowling gills, which usually take off several miles an hour, are replaced by a controllable slot.

There is an oil cooler inside the nose of the cowling, with a French Mercier-type reverse flow nose ring. This is the best cowling installation ever. The BMW 801 engine is highly supercharged and gives about 1,500 horsepower at 19,000 feet.

The result is that 190 has a good performance right up to 30,000 feet. This German fighter should prove a useful spur to British and American industries to go out and do better. The secret lies in engine development. With a little more effort and quick decisions we can far surpass anything yet seen.

Meanwhile, the 190 is formidable but not decisively superior to British types. By fighting lower down we can offset the Germans' supercharge advantage. The enemy may get some shocks before long. Certainly in the "Typhoon" we have a fighter considerably faster at average heights and more manoeuvrable.

There is a tremendous concentration of material and masses of troops in England not being put to immediate use. The troops are practically standing on each others' shoulders.—Joseph Curran, president, C.I.O. National Maritime Union.

UMBRELLA-LIKE SWORD
New York Times Dispatch from Canberra

The mystery of the supposed umbrella found in one of the midge submarines sunk in Sydney harbor, May 31, was solved by Navy Minister Norman Makin, who opened it on his desk and produced a sword.

The blade was 27 inches long, the handle 9½ inches long, large enough to be grasped by both hands. The sword was encased in three coverings, held at one end by a tasseled cord, giving the weapon the appearance of a large umbrella.

Removal of the cloth revealed a leather case enclosing a metal scabbard. The handle of the sword was beautifully embossed with gold. A rising sun was etched on the hilt. It is assumed it was the property of the submarine commander. It will be deposited in the Australian War Memorial Museum.

Board Explains Tea Bag Sales

OTTAWA (CP)—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board explained today how the rationing of tea and coffee works in the sale of tea bags, packages of tea containing fractions of an ounce and coffee concentrates and substitutes containing coffee.

The beverages are being rationed at the rate of one ounce of tea and four ounces of coffee per person per week—but not both. Children under 12 years of age receive no ration.

The board said that in selling tea bags, retailers will use the following coupon values: Two coupons for a carton of 18 or 20 tea bags; four coupons for a carton of 40 or 45 tea bags; eight coupons for a carton of 80 tea bags; 10 coupons for a carton of 100 tea bags.

Retailers who have on hand packages of tea containing fractional ounces, such as 1 1/4, 1 1/2, 2 1/4-ounce packages, may ignore the fractional quantity so far as the coupons are concerned.

For example, a 1 1/4 or 1 1/2-ounce package may be sold on surrender of one coupon, 2 1/4-ounce package on surrender of two coupons. However, if a customer buys a number of such packages, the nearest coupon value must be surrendered; such as five coupons for four 1 1/4-ounce packages.

COFFEE SUBSTITUTES

To buy coffee concentrates or substitutes containing coffee, purchasers will surrender one coupon for a quantity of the concentrate or substitute sufficient to make 12 cups of the beverage. Fractions of 12 cups will be ignored. For instance, a package of concentrate sufficient to make 100 cups of coffee may be sold on surrender of eight coupons.

The board also announced that orders given by merchants for the purchase of tea and coffee, placed or postmarked on or before Aug. 1, may be filled without surrender of ration coupons.

MUST REPORT

Persons with more than two weeks' supply of tea or coffee on hand when the new rationing regulations became effective Aug. 3 must report their total quantity to the nearest ration office, along with coupons to cover the difference between the amount on hand and the amount allowed under the rationing regulations.

If the coupon value of the surplus exceeds the coupons attached to the temporary ration cards of all members of the household more than 12 years of age, the report should contain an undertaking to surrender the appropriate number of additional coupons when received, the board states.

The new order, applying to any consumer, boarding-house operator and persons more than 12 years old, obligates persons holding two ration cards to return one of them immediately.

Delay Opening

SASKATOON (CP)—The opening of the University of Saskatchewan has been postponed from Sept. 17 until Oct. 5 because of the large harvest and the shortage of labor, President James S. Thomson announced today. The university is urging all students who can possibly do so to aid in harvesting.

In order to increase the amount of reclaimed rubber produced each year, the number of varieties has been reduced from 100 to 3.

ALLIED BOMBERS HIT AXIS SHIPS

CAIRO (AP)—Heavy Allied bombers attacked three large enemy merchant ships in the eastern Mediterranean Tuesday, hitting at least one squarely and scoring near misses on the others, a British communique reported today.

Other bombers, ranging westward as far as Bardia in air activity of growing pitch, scored direct hits on Axis lighters and hounded "enemy light shipping" with sea and air escort, the communique said.

Two German Messerschmitts were listed as downed in the aerial operations.

While the R.A.F. told of developing air action, the ground forces reported only patrol skirmishes Monday night and artillery exchanges Tuesday on the northern and central sectors of the dormant battle line in the El Alamein region some 70 miles west of Alexandria.

McNaughton's Men Using More Jeeps

By ROSS MUNRO
SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—The American "blitz buggy"—or "jeep"—has become the general utility vehicle of the Canadian army overseas.

About 800 of these sturdy little cars are being used by field units and headquarters and the buggy has been such a success more are being brought to England.

The army commander, Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, and the 1st Corps commander, Lieut. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, drive around troop camps in Jeeps and every divisional commander has one allotted for his personal use. Occasionally the generals drive the cars themselves.

In the units, blitz buggies are replacing small cars, station wagons and staff sedans in many cases, and in units like the Provost Corps they are being used by some personnel instead of motorcycles.

The artillery is adapting the vehicle to its own purposes and anti-tank regiments have found it is a handy car to pull the two-pounder guns. Normally a truck, which carries the ammunition and the gun crew, is used, but the jeep is a natural for rushing guns up in a hurry.

Commanding officers of regiments use the blitz buggy now to make reconnaissances, for the car can go practically anywhere. If it gets stuck, five or six men can lift it out of a hole.

But Others Came Before

EDDY-TORIAL TO DISAPPOINTED LADIES

Caesar "Came and Saw and Conquered," but last week when we announced these inimitable little Wool Dresses lots of Ladies only came. Others had come before them and the Dresses were all gone. But we KNEW how they would go and had already ordered a second selection—just as "Cute," just as fascinating, just as different and at just the same prices—$7.95, $9.95 and $11.95. And in every case the prices are at least two dollars less than the nationally-advertised figures. How about being among the first this time? Yes, they ARE wool—loomed in England. P.S.—Another arrival yesterday were these smart little Plaid Skirts, also in wool, and we priced them right away at only $3.95. Signing off now to open up another case just brought in by the Expressman.

Spare Beds for Boys On Week-end Leave Appealed For

The hospitality committee of the Auxiliary Services is making a special appeal to citizens of Victoria to register with the committee in cases where they have a spare bed in their homes.

The committee is receiving requests to find homes for boys who are on 48 hours' leave and who would appreciate the hospitality of a home for that length of time. Although hundreds of homes are on the hospitality register, there are very few where a boy can stay overnight, and in order to fill this need the committee needs help.

Will anyone able to fill such a request kindly phone Miss Ellen Hart, Garden 5425.

In making this appeal, the committee would like to quote from an article which appeared in the press recently by Michael M. Dean:

"Some of these hard-training young Canadians will not return when the war is over. Some of them will bear the scars of battle. Some will be crippled for the rest of their natural lives. All this for what? Just for you and me and for our children so that they may live in security and in liberty."

WEDDINGS

CUDMORE-FOURACRE

Gladioli and greenery formed the background for the wedding Tuesday evening in St. John's Church between Gwendolyn May, elder daughter of the late Mr. Victor Fouracre and Mrs. Fouracre, 36 Douglas Street, and Mr. John Cudmore, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cudmore, Granville Avenue. Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. J. Fouracre, wore a frock of white organza, embellished with orchids and valley lily, with a sweetheart neckline and pointed sleeves. A coronet of orange blossom caught a veil of bridal net that fell to the hem of the floor-length skirt, and she carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses, swainsona and orchid gladioli. A gold locket and chain which had belonged to her great-grandmother was her only ornament.

Frocks of embossed organza, duplicates of the bride's, with full skirts and short puff sleeves, were worn by the bridal attendants. Miss Gladys Fouracre, maid of honor, choosing seafaring with a peach net headdress and veil, and a peach muff on which was placed a posy of Talisman roses. Rose pink with mauve accessories, with Columbia roses and pink stocks on her muff, was chosen by Miss Doreen Crowe, and Miss Horee Moses, the bride's cousin, wore sky blue with yellow accessories, and a posy of yellow gladioli and golden Ophelia roses on her muff.

Captain W. E. Roskelly was best man, and Messrs. Jack Fouracre, cousin of the bride, and Ronald McMillan, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Baskets of gladioli, decorated Terry's Rose Room for the reception. Mrs. Fouracre welcomed about 100 guests, dressed in a dusty rose ensemble with a corsage bouquet of golden Ophelia roses, assisted by Mrs. Cudmore in Delft blue with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. The cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Fouracre, centred the supper table, complemented by white tapers and vases of pink carnations. Canon Stocken proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. H. R. Dave sang a solo at the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudmore will make their home in Victoria after a honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride wore a Queen's blue redingote ensemble with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson and Mrs. D. Fyvie, Salt Spring Island, were guests at the wedding.

Canadian Gabriel Serkau has a way of blowing chute trainees into the sky by compressed air jets. It will, he contends, do away with the need for expensive practice towers.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillip of Victoria are spending a short holiday in Vancouver and are guests at Sylvia Court Hotel.

Sub-Lt. Robert A. Gonnason, R.C.N.V.R., will arrive tomorrow on leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Gonnason, 290 Beach Drive.

Miss Miriam Goodwin is leaving today for Anacortes to be the guest for a few weeks of Miss Alice Strom of that city and before returning home will spend a week in Tacoma with Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Ellis and family.

Sgt. Instructor Hope Large, C.W.A.C., has returned from Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, to spend a week's furlough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Large, Richardson Street, and will be "at home" to her friends Friday afternoon.

Miss Mary-Louise Bryant, who is to be married shortly to Lt. Carron B. Jameson, was the guest of honor when Miss Marianne Wingate, Southgate Street, entertained last evening at a china shower. Fourteen of the bride-elect's friends brought dainty gifts of china, which were concealed in a large white box tied with silver and white ribbons, with a posy of pink roses on top. The prettily-appointed refreshment table was arranged with white gladioli and presided over by Miss Maureen Fricker and Miss Betty Thatcher.

Miss Ethel Comer, whose marriage to Mr. Cliff Knowles will take place on Saturday, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. T. Scott and Mrs. R. Knowles, at the home of the former, 3518 Calumet Avenue, Monday evening. The many gifts were presented to the bride in a ship beautifully decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper. A buffet supper was served. The invited guests included Mesdames C. Comer, J. Knowles, Waigh, P. W. Mason, L. E. Smith, G. Rabey, W. Hulme, G. Maycock, J. Stone, L. Bradley, J. Comer, and the Misses Jean Scott, Christine Reid, May Medler and Sybil Waigh.

Miss Dolina MacKinnon, Oil-plant Street, left today for Washington, D.C., to take up her new duties with the British Purchasing Commission. A farewell party was held in her honor last evening at the home of Miss Muriel Knight, Rockland Avenue, when members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority presented her with a leather writing case, inscribed with the sorority letters. Games were played, and the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. Maude Hammond and Mrs. F. Rough presided at the supper table, which was covered with a lace cloth and centred with a silver bowl of yellow roses and yellow tapers in silver candlesticks. Other guests included Mesdames E. Brown, A. Ward, Misses J. Charlebois, Florence Cummings, Barbara Dawson, Winnie Elliott, Joyce Goggin, K. MacKinnon, Violet Payer, Rita Rodgers, Vera Waller, Jean Wilson and Gladys Robertson.

Capt. Russell Whitelaw of Vancouver and his son, Glen Whitelaw, who have been spending the last 10 days in Victoria, left yesterday for their home on the mainland.

Miss Mary Ard Mackenzie, Middleton Avenue, who has been spending a few months in Toronto with her sister, Mrs. Harcourt, returned home yesterday afternoon.

The many friends of Mrs. H. A. Hinks of Langford will be pleased to hear she has recovered sufficiently from her recent operation at St. Joseph's Hospital to be able to return today to her home in the country.

Miss Florence Cummins left Tuesday evening for Vancouver to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cummins, before leaving for McLeod, Alta., where her marriage to Sergeant-Pilot Bruce D. Clayton will take place at the week-end.

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew was hostess at a small bouillon party this morning at her home, "Kah-naw-way," Beach Drive, when she entertained a few old friends of two former Victorians who are visiting Victoria, Mrs. Frank McPherson of Ottawa and Mrs. W. G. Wilson, who just returned from Edmonton.

Mrs. Gilbert Yard and Miss Jean Burnett entertained Tuesday evening at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. K. H. Fraser, 18 Wellington Avenue, in the form of a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Fay Ockenden, whose marriage to Mr. Douglas Kent will take place later in the month. Upon her arrival, the bride-to-be was asked to don a kitchen apron and cap and to search for many useful gifts which were hidden throughout the rooms. Miss Ockenden received a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds and white heather, while the bride-elect's mother was given one of pink carnations and sweet peas. Rose gladioli were used in the decoration of the rooms, and a cutglass basket of pink larkspur centred the supper table. Guests included Mesdames C. Ockenden, J. Kent, Pellow, Kennelly, Margison, F. C. McWhinney, Southern, Parnall, Hughes, Harty, Knudson, Case, Fraser, D. J. Burnett, Ozard, Gaunt, Edmonds and W. J. Mosedale, and the Misses He'en and Violet Ockenden, Brenda Kent, Betty Southern, Phyllis Dilworth, Mary Smyth, Phyllis Burnett, Diana James, Iris Smallwood, Jean Connell, Ruth Kennedy, June Day and Doreen Kennelly.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Dingwall celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their home on St. David Street, on Saturday evening, when a number of their friends called on them. A social evening was spent, with the guests contributing to a program of songs and other entertainment. A wedding cake centred the refreshment table. During the evening, Mr. Jack Yates, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented Mr. and Mrs. Dingwall with a handsome silver tray. Major and Mrs. Dingwall were

Britain Out After Lost Vitamins

LONDON (CP)—Food Ministry scientists are out hunting these days for vitamins lost in British cooking and the results of their search may bring an educational campaign to get the housewife to prepare meals less traditionally and more scientifically.

The 1,500 British restaurants (government owned) and 7,500 factory canteens are being used in this research. Chemists visit them, taking away samples of the cooking to analyze and test the meals and see what proportion of vitamins is lost in the preparation. Laboratories in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Dundee, London, Manchester and other cities are co-operating in the vitamin hunt. Scientists say a whole new field of dietetics was opened up by the discovery of new vitamins and the splitting up of vitamin B into B1 and B2 and others up to B6 before the war began. The more war may make it necessary to curtail the British diet the greater the importance of any new vitamin discoveries.

Starlet Ann Carter To Attend Gala

Winsome, little Ann Carter, the six-year-old starlet of the "Commandos Came at Dawn," is all agog about the grand garden gala being held at Government House next Wednesday, Aug. 12.

She is still undecided where she will spend most of her time whilst at the garden party. She says she wishes to "help" at the candy stall, but feels that she should devote some of her time to the ice cream stall. She also wishes to have a ride on Whirlaway, the beautiful saddle horse which is being raffled in aid of the Red Cross.

Ann wants to be a Red Cross nurse when she grows up and is going to attend the garden party in the dress and cap of a Canadian Red Cross nurse. The uniform and cap are being especially made for her. Ann wants to meet as many little boys and girls who live in Victoria as possible. It is hoped that arrangements may be made for her to do so at the grand garden gala.

Raps Wasters

LONDON (CP)—In Fulham Borough a special watch is being kept to catch food wasters. Too many whole and half loaves of bread have been appearing in the waste bins. Alderman Joseph Dickinson blames it on the housewives and says, "women here do not seem to be able to cater for their family needs."

Tickets Going Well For Red Cross Gala

Admission tickets for the Grand Garden Gala being given in aid of the Red Cross at Government House on Aug. 12 are being sold by the members of all the Red Cross units in Victoria and district.

There is of course friendly competition between the units and the results of their efforts are watched with keen interest by the campaign committee.

Units are judged on a per capita basis. Thus, if a unit with 25 members sells half as many tickets as another unit with a membership of 50, it is reckoned equal in results. Tickets can also be obtained from the Red Cross district centre, 1162 McClure Street, E 8922; Red Cross Office, 602 Broughton Street, B 3159, and the Red Cross Superfluties Store, 1220 Government Street, E 8913.

The public is responding well, and admission tickets and tickets for the different contests in which so many handsome and beautiful prizes will be won, are selling well.

Proud of 11 Sons On War Service

LONDON (CP)—Mrs. Annie MacKay, 67-year-old widow, is proud of her "football team" of 11 sons. The oldest is an arsenal worker while the army, navy and air force are represented by the others. In addition she has 16 grandsons and nephews in the services.

Charles Kennett, a stoker in the Royal Navy and his wife, who drives a bread wagon under the war transport scheme, hasn't any sons. But they're proud as punch of their four daughters. Three are in the Auxiliary Training Service and the other is a W.A.A.F.

CANDIES WANTED

Mrs. R. D. McCaw, 1148 St. Patrick Street, convener of the candy stall at the grand garden gala, to be held at Government House on Wednesday, Aug. 12, will be very grateful for donations of candy. Anyone good enough to assist the Red Cross in this way is asked to leave donations at the Superfluties Store, 1220 Government Street, not later than noon, Tuesday, Aug. 11, or telephone Mrs. McCaw at E 3646. Proceeds from the sale of these candies go to the Canadian Red Cross Society to help provide parcels for prisoners of war.

MRS. REED PAIGE CLARK, at whose home "Riffington," Beach Drive, the Uplands, the Oak Bay subdivision of the Catholic Women's League and Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes, will hold a garden party Saturday afternoon. In addition to games, music, sideshows and swimming, Major L. Bullock-Webster will present a short comedy sketch written by Captain Dagg, of "Aldergrove," with a cast composed of Mrs. B. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Miss Boriska and Mr. P. A. Gibbs.

Air Services W.A. To Tag Saturday

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Air Services will hold a tag day Saturday, under the convener-ship of Mrs. R. W. Devins. The proceeds will be devoted to the work of the auxiliary among the men overseas and in the remote stations.

Plans for the tag day were made at the meeting of the auxiliary held Tuesday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. A letter was read from Flt.-Lt. Hogan, R.C.A.F. Auxiliary Services officer overseas, stressing the need for turtle-neck sweaters, heavy waterproof socks and knitted gloves. The letter will assist the auxiliary in its work of making and supplying articles for which there is a great demand.

Captains of tagger groups include Mrs. L. F. Stevenson, Mrs. E. C. Luke, Mrs. Denton Holmes, Mrs. Cyril Jones, Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, Mrs. Lorna Campbell, Mrs. E. Booth, Mrs. N. Beketov, Mrs. E. Martin, Mrs. H. Hales and Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve. Last year's tag day results amounted to $1,400, and the committee hopes to go "over the top" this time.

Mrs. H. Hales reported that 18,000 cigarettes had been sent to British Columbia airmen during the month, and read many letters of thanks and appreciation from Victoria boys.

Mrs. Cyril Jones reported nine finished articles and 16 knitted garments turned over to the Red Cross from the sewing group. Over 200 magazines were brought in by members for distribution to outlying air stations. There is a great demand for these magazines and all members are co-operating in collecting them.

Mrs. Ross reported the work of the welfare committee. The making up and sending of Christmas parcels to Victoria boys overseas was discussed. Mrs. Lorne Campbell will be convener of this work.

BREAD WAGON DRIVER—It's no longer the breadman, but the "breadgirl" who calls on the customers on one route of a large Toronto bakery. Betty Maples, shown here, is believed to be the first girl bread wagon driver in Toronto.

Four-Footed Pets' Fund Reaches $200

Mrs. T. R. Myers, convener of the Four-footed Fighter tag fund, reported the gratifying total of over $200 raised by this channel, the proceeds to be added to Gonzales I.O.D.E. Chapter's Spitfire fund. This was announced at Tuesday morning's meeting of the chapter held at headquarters, with Mrs. W. C. Nichol in the chair. Mrs. Myers was accorded a warm vote of thanks for her effort, together with all those who assisted her.

Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mrs. H. C. Morris, a valued member, and Mr. S. J. Pitts, father of Miss Marian Pitts, first vice-regent, who passed away recently.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson, war service convener, reported 93 articles valued at $97.40 turned in to Municipal during the past month and congratulated the members of the weekly work meetings for their splendid showing. For the Navy League, Sea Cadets, Mrs. Sampson reported 36 ditty bags had been obtained and contributions from members to fill these bags would be welcome. Chocolate bars, cigarettes, Penquin books, razor blades, soap, writing paper and tooth paste were among the articles required.

Applications for membership in the chapter from Mrs. H. Briggs and Mrs. J. B. Kay were approved unanimously.

The resignation of the secretary, Mrs. Denny's Godfrey, who is moving to Vancouver, was accepted and a parting gift from the chapter was presented, also a hearty vote of thanks.

I SET THE PACE FOR BETTY NOW!

1 I used to envy Betty's energy. One day I asked her: "How do you start off so fresh every morning?" "Get yourself a self-starter, my dear," she said. "Try Post's Bran Flakes, the delicious cereal with three benefits. They'll help to get you in trim!"

2 Next Saturday we met in the grocer's. "Remember," she urged, pointing them out, "eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly from now on. They contain just enough bran to be mildly laxative, provide useful amounts of the iron and phosphorus we all need and their flavor is simply grand!"

3 Now I never fail to eat my Post's Bran Flakes. They really are a delicious cereal—scrumptious in bran muffins, too. As for me... I'm no longer listless and tired. Early or late, I can set the pace for the whole office—including Betty!

Dogs Domesticated First as Scavengers

Dogs have been introduced into the human household, back in late Stone Age days, not so much as pets or hunting aids as for their value as scavengers, suggests Dr. M. F. Ashley-Montagu of Hahnemann Medical College,

Sure—Quick Relief from Asthma and Hay Fever with
KELLOGG'S ASTHMA RELIEF

Philadelphia, in the current issue of Science.
Primitive man was a hunter, shifting camp often as he followed the game herds about, Dr. Ashley-Montagu points out. He tossed his garbage into the bushes near his shelter, and presently the combination of smell and flies must have been pretty bad, even for supposedly insensitive primitives. Dogs, by consuming the garbage, would abate the nuisance to some extent at least, and thereby earn their right to hang around camp.
Dr. Ashley-Montagu states that he has seen groups of Australian blacks living in the bush under just such conditions as he has pictured for Neolithic man. A considerable fringe of garbage-consuming but otherwise unemployed dogs, was a regular feature of such aboriginal camps.
Australia normally has a supply of 1,750,000 horses and exports about 4,000 annually.

C.P. Writer Sees New Excitement

Building Rush Prosperity Sweeps Northern B.C.

Herbert Jones, Canadian Press staff writer, has just returned from a tour of northern British Columbia. In this story, one of a series, he describes how military road construction has brought prosperity to northern districts.

By HERBERT JONES
SOMEWHERE IN THE BRITISH COLUMBIA INTERIOR (CP)—A tornado of wartime prosperity is roaring across a section of British Columbia's interior.

The war has brought soldiers and construction workers by the thousands in a giddy whirl of ringing cash registers, quadrupled populations, a rush for supplies—a prosperity boom such as the area has never known.
There have been other booms in this rugged mountain country, like the land rush of the early 1900's, when high-powered real estate men sold lots for $5,000 apiece. But old-timers will tell you there never has been anything to equal the present wave of business, with accommodation unavailable and cafes hard pressed to meet demands.

CITIES OF TENTS

Sleepy railroad towns—some the product of another boom era—awoke one morning to find themselves reliving the hectic days of the past. Thousands of construction workers had moved in with tons of heavy equipment to put through roads here and build airports there.

Then the army came. Row on row of soldiers' tents sprang up overnight in hurriedly cleared patches of forest land.
Demand far surpassed supply and transport became a major problem.

Dusty little 20-room hotels which hadn't had more than a half-dozen guests in months, are filled to capacity, with even a chair in the lobby at a premium as a sleeping place. Private homes rent out all available beds and even barns and garages are turned into sleeping quarters at some centres.

WALK LONG DISTANCES
Ordinary travelers, unable to get accommodation, walk miles into the country seeking a bed for the night at farmhouses along the way.

Restaurant owners even in the larger centres find themselves forced to close their doors periodically because their establishments are jammed. Others look up for the night at 8 and earlier because they are sold out.

Local carpenters, with their first chance in years to "cash in" on a construction boom beyond their wildest dreams, find themselves hampered by lack of lumber although all mills are cutting at capacity. The war is the first thought here and the army has a priority on lumber.

BUSY NIGHTS
At night, the men from the army camps stream into the towns by the hundreds, on foot, on motorcycles and army trucks. They jam the local beer taverns and lunch counters and cafes do a land office business.

Almost every kind of business, from the local theatre—if there is one—to the local hardware store—where everything from nails to nail polish may be purchased—gets in on this wartime stream of cash.

The big question in the interior is "How long will it last?" Almost any old-timer will tell you, if you give him a chance, of the boom eras of the past which eventually faded having barely scratched the possibilities of the country in mining, lumbering and agriculture.

But most believe now that with the wartime building of roads that 50 years of peacetime appeal failed to bring, the country will be opened up and prosperity will stay after the soldiers' tents and construction gangs have disappeared.

Alaska Pioneer Dead

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—John Wagner, 80, who during the Klondike gold rush was known as the strongest man on the Chilkoot Pass trail, died Tuesday in a hospital where he had been a patient since last October.

Wagner came to the territory in '96 and established a reputation as the only packer who could carry a cook stove. He had plenty of money on arrival in Juneau and established a claim on Salmon Creek. Friends say he turned down several offers of thousands of dollars for an option, like many oldtimers.

Heads of Intelligence, Operational Branches

* LIEUT.-COL. W. W. MURRAY COL. J. H. JENKINS
Changes in Canada's operational and intelligence services as a result of the spread of war brings Lieut.-Col. W. W. Murray to head the new directorate of intelligence. Col. John Henry Jenkins of Vancouver, now heads the directorate of military operations and plans. Both directorates were previously operated jointly.

Subway Dwellers Escape Eviction

LONDON (CP)—The government has canceled an order which would have evicted 500 members of that strange war-born society—the subway dwellers who nightly gather below London's streets to discuss everything from an Allied second front to baby's new tooth.
Increased German aerial activity in the London area caused cancellation of the order, which was to have gone into effect this week.

The underground population was relieved by this decision. "That's fine," said Mrs. John Burford, whose family of three daughters and an 11-year-old son sleeps on the Holborn subway platform. "We can all stay on here."

Mrs. Burford is an example of the subway society. She and her family have spent every night since September, 1940, in the Holborn station. A German bomb destroyed their home. The only thing salvaged from the wreck was her husband's picture. He's fighting in Egypt. She works 12 hours daily in a war factory. The soldier-father's picture is posted nightly over her son's cot in the subway.

5,000 DWELLERS

More than 2,000 persons sleep on these subway platforms a few feet from the tracks. Another 3,000 in London's battered east end live in shelters beneath warehouses, banks and factories.

"Down here it's like a village," said Mickey Davis, who has run a shelter in the east end since 1940. "Everyone knows everyone else. Some of the boys who came down here in 1940 are fighting now. Their folks read their letters aloud to the other dwellers."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced in the House of Commons that British policy toward Czechoslovakia was guided by formal recognition of the Czechoslovak government in London and by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration in September, 1940, that the Germans had destroyed the Munich agreement.

An exchange of notes between Eden and Jan Masaryk, foreign minister in the exiled Czechoslovak government, formally defining Britain's stand was issued simultaneously as a white paper. "As Germany has deliberately destroyed arrangements concerning Czechoslovakia reached in 1938 in which His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom participated," Eden's note said, "His Majesty's government regard themselves as free from any engagements in this respect."

REVERTS TO 1938

"At the final settlement of Czechoslovak frontiers to be reached at the end of the war they will not be influenced by any changes effected in and since 1938."

Masaryk replied that "between our two countries the Munich agreement can now be considered as dead."

His note called the British announcement a "highly significant act of justice toward Czechoslovakia," and said his government accepted it as a "practical solution of questions and difficulties of vital importance" which confronted the dissolved republic as a consequence of the Munich pact.

The Munich agreement was a four-power pact among Britain, France, Germany and Italy, providing for gradual German occupation of parts of Czechoslovakia's sudeten areas beginning Oct. 1, 1938.

The agreement was signed on Sept. 30, 1938, by the late Neville Chamberlain, then Britain's prime minister; Edouard Daladier, then premier of France; Mussolini and Hitler.

Toronto marriages in 1941 numbered 10,723, as compared with 7,084 in pre-war year 1938.

Maybe these people just didn't get enough community life before the war."

Each night these people, their bedding on their shoulders, go down into the subways. There is card playing and singing, cartoons and medical facilities.

In the Strand station, one woman, Lily Brider, who works in a printing office, was worried when the government first decided to close that station. "It's real pleasant here," she said. "I've decided to move to the Trafalgar Square station, but I don't expect to like it. They have such funny people there."

Kiwians Hear India Authority

"Should India be handed over to the Indians?" was the subject of Rev. C. Devenish of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church at Esquimalt, at the Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon.

For the past 20 years or more Britain had been giving the country back to the Indians, he said. "Every public facility and service is open to the Indians," said Mr. Devenish. "They hold nearly all civil offices. There are only less than 600 Europeans in civil service in all of India."

"We have quietly, steadily and wisely been handing India to the Indians."

"Which party in India would we give the administration?" the speaker asked.

He told of the numerous parties in the large country, including the Communists, Labor, Moslem League and Liberals and others, who all disagree with one another. "We are responsible for the population," he said, and asked "how can we possibly turn the administration over to any one party?"

Mr. Devenish thought a political body should be established embracing representatives of all parties, and let them decide who should administer India. One state already had coalition government.

"This," said the speaker, "would lead to a wonderful future... and it can be done after the war." Mr. Devenish has spent 21 years in India.

Following the main text of his address, he presented a verbal picture of some of the more outstanding personalities of India. He dwelt on Mahatma Gandhi in considerable extent.

"The situation in India now is exceptionally grave," he concluded.

Thickening and thinning of oil due to temperature changes can now be partly controlled by addition of a chemical obtained from oil itself.

KEPT FROM WORK BY BACKACHE

Suffered for 3 Years

Backache may be just bothersome; on the other hand, it may creep on and become chronic. Such was the case with the man who wrote the letter below—until he was induced to try Kruschen. To-day he has a different tale to tell.

"For three years I was badly troubled with my kidneys. They caused me such severe pain in the back that I had to quit working. I tried many prescriptions, but they did me no good. One day I saw a Kruschen Salts advertisement. After using three bottles, my backache was entirely gone, and I can now work as well as ever. I shall never be without Kruschen-Salts again."

—J.E.
Unless the kidneys—or body filters—function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms: rheumatic pains for one, excessive fatigue for another. Kruschen Salts is one of the finest diuretics or kidney aperients available for assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c and 75c.

BALL LEAGUE comes up with one of those natural tonight when the Victoria Machinery Depot and Navy nines hook up. The clubs are deadlocked for the top spot and the team winning will likely cling to the driver's seat until the schedule runs out. Unless the V.M.D. can come up with a new pitcher we would say the odds favor the boys in blue.

Navy finally reached the top Monday night after a long, hard struggle. They have been challenging the shipyarders for the first place the last month or so, but just couldn't seem to make the grade. They finally caught up with the league leaders and did it at the psychological time, the game before they were due to hook up with their bitterest rivals. What could be sweeter for the league officials who think in terms of gate receipts?

Getting back to tonight's fracas. The V.M.D. have a smart ball club if one forgets about pitching. As a matter of fact, there is little question the shipyarders are the smoothest fielding outfit in the circuit. And they have been getting by on the strength of their fielding and not due to any great pitching feats. But a club needs chuckers and nobody knows it better right now than Manager Pat Steele and Coach Laurel Harney. They have combed the island and prairies in their search for just one good mound worker, to no avail.

Lester Patrick, grey-thatched vice-president of Madison Square Garden, and boss of the New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, drifted into the office Monday for his annual pow-wow, but unlike former years Patrick was silent regarding hockey prospects for the coming winter. We should say that Patrick had plenty to say, but before talking immediately clamped on the muzzle with the remark: "This is all off the record." Patrick will slip out of town one of these days en route to New York to pick up his duties again with the big New York corporation. As he departed we asked Lester if he would be returning to Victoria again this year. "You never can tell. I might even come back to spend the winter here. Would be pretty nice after 17 spent in the east."

When the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics played that ball game at Cooperstown, New York, Monday, to honor the birthplace of baseball and now the proud guardian of the Baseball Hall of Fame, a couple of young fellows were among the honored guests. They were Connie Mack and Judge Landis. The former is baseball's greatest living figure. Politicians come and go. Rich men rise and fall. When they lose their money, their names are wiped off the slate. But Connie Mack was popular and famous 50 years ago. He is popular and famous today. More so than 50 years ago. He is revered and loved by all. As for Judge Landis, he fined the Standard Oil Company $29,000,000 and gave away his overcoat to a defendant in court on a winter day. He became the salvation of professional baseball when its honesty was challenged. Cooperstown was honored by the presence of these two great baseball figures.

Giants Tie Brooklyn

Saved By Lights

New York fans may never like "twilight" baseball, but they are now ready to admit that the dim-out plays no favorites. Twice in two nights the struggles of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants have been prematurely ended by the army regulations which require that floodlights must be extinguished an hour after sundown.

Monday this rule helped beat the Giants, 7 to 4, when darkness smothered a promising rally in the last half of the ninth inning—to the violent displeasure of a crowd of 57,305 fans assembled for the benefit of army relief.

Tuesday night, however, the switching off of the Polo Grounds lights erased a four-run 10th-inning outburst by the Dodgers and gave the Giants a 1 to 1 tie which the teams will play off Sept. 6. This time the 15,000 fans accepted the incident without a demonstration, although they had booed time-killing manoeuvres of the rivals throughout the game.

The fans' loss was slight compared to that of Peeewe Reese, the Dodgers' little shortstop, who hit a home run inside the park with the bases loaded to kayo Fiddler Bill McGee in the 10th with none out. It didn't count because the inning never was finished.

The Giants had little chance of getting a turn at bat anyway, and they made certain they would not by some dexterous stalling. Manager Mel Ott was slow in getting relief pitcher Ace Adams to the mound. Then Adams walked the first man he faced, made a wild pitch, got a batter on a fly and the game was over. The playing time was 2 hours and 24 minutes, one minute less than the previous night.

EXTEND LEAD

Although the Dodgers didn't win, their National League lead was extended to 10 full games, their largest margin of the season, because the St. Louis Cardinals were set down, 4 to 3, at Cincinnati. The Cards were held to five hits, but bunched three of these for three runs to chase Johnny Vander Meer in the seventh. Then Joe Beggs put out the fire.

The New York Yankees were beaten, 4 to 3, in a night game at Washington, but received some consolation in that their ailing left-hander, Marius Russo, re-joined the club and pitched two innings of no-hit ball in relief. Each team made seven hits, Sid Hudson going the route for the Senators, but errors, three by the world champions and two by

COAST LEAGUE

San Diego, barely in the upper division, today holds the new Coast League batting mark of seven consecutive hits—a record established in a single inning against the second-place Sacramento club Tuesday night.

The new baseball field went on the books in the fourth inning when the Padres scored 13 runs with a 13-hit blast that wrecked the Solons, 19 to 8.

A record of six hits without an intervening out was made June 4, 1936, by the old Hollywood club, forerunners to the Padres, in a game with the San Francisco Missions.

Besides topping this mark, the San Diegans by sending 19 batters to the plate in a single inning for a total of 13 hits, equalled two additional loop statistical oddities.

Frank Nelson, who replaced Blix Donnelly in the second, was the losing hurler. Altogether, the Solons used five pitchers to four Padre chuckers. Sacramento collected 12 hits to 20 for San Diego. Baseshits also gave Oakland an 8 to 6 win over the league-leading Los Angeles Angels to bring the Oak-win-streak to nine straight games.

San Francisco and Hollywood had a comparatively quiet evening as the Seals' Bob Joyce won a hurling duel from Roy Joiner and Whitey Hilcher, 4 to 1.

Seattle and Portland were traveling, but are scheduled to open a series with a doubleheader at Portland tonight.

No Coast League Ball Next Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Charles H. Graham of the San Francisco Seals expressed the belief today there would be no Coast League baseball scheduled in 1943.

"No," he said, "there'll be no baseball next year."

"I'm afraid this is our last season for the duration. You may know how long that will be. I don't."

Graham, whose savings and future prospects are wrapped up in the big, concrete Seals Stadium in San Francisco's Mission district, disclosed his views in an interview with sports columnist Prescott Sullivan of the Examiner.

"What makes me say that?" Graham declared.

"Well, what else is there for me to say? Anyone can see the way things are going. The army and navy are calling up more and more men. Defence jobs are claiming other thousands."

"By next year there just won't be any young men available to play baseball. We'll have to take it. Every one has to adjust himself to changing conditions. Baseball has no right to expect unusual privileges."

Graham's son, Charles Jr., is a lieutenant in the army. His publicity man, Walter (The Great) Mails, recently enlisted as a marine corps private.

Barons Win Softball
Barons won a softball game from the Navy, Tuesday night, and they can thank game young Jimmy McCorkall for the victory. It marked the opening of the senior A men's five-game playoff and the Barons scored an upset 10 to 6 win for their first victory over the crack Navy outfit this season.

McCorkall, on the mound for the Barons, pitched his club to success despite being knocked colder than the proverbial ice block in the early innings, by a line drive from the bat of Glen Richardson, Navy shortstop. Richardson really "got himself a pitcher" and it took several minutes to revive McCorkall. McCorkall actually seemed to work better after the accident, hurling shutout ball the remainder of the game.

Also outstanding in the Barons' triumph was pint-sized left fielder Jimmy Baker. This vet-

Tam o'Shanter Finalists

Byron Nelson, and Clayton Heafner, tied at 280—eight under par—for 72 holes in golf's richest tourney, Chicago's Tam o'Shanter $15,000 open, with Nelson capturing the playoff. Nelson blew a chance to take first money on the final round when he missed a four-foot putt.

Bays-Douglas Tire Win Boxla

Long Outstanding

His parents christened him Warren, but the boy with whom he played when he was a kid nicknamed him "Buzz." Warren "Buzz" Long never had any intention in those days how aptly that name would fit him on the night of Aug. 4, 1942, when he gave one of the greatest goal tending exhibitions of his career and was in himself almost instrumental in the 21 to 13 defeat his Bays-Douglas Tire handed to Oakland. He stopped 31 shots.

"Buzz" was indeed buzzing, like an angry queen bee watching over her hive, the only difference being that Long was watching over a lacrosse goal. All night long he robbed Bob McInnes' boys of goals in a game, that by floor play, would have been a pretty fair draw.

Time after time such marksmen as Bill McCaghey, Fred Ranson, Mike Cunningham, et al, were on top of him like a roof, but every time "Buzz" threw his anatomy almost out of joint to cause more chagrin in the Oak camp in that one game than in any half-dozen past exhibitions.

Austin Cullin and Joe Bryant followed Ferguson with three goals each, Bryant also picking up an assist, Mike Cunningham and Ken Calverly with three goals each led Oaks.

Play was comparatively clean, although the game was spiced with one brawl when Fred Ranson and Bobby Barr started a razzle-dazzle in the third quarter. Both got 10 minutes. A small disaster befell Oaks in the third period also, when Darrell Popham was boarded heavily, spraining his left ankle. He will be out for a couple of games.

Teams and scores follow:
Bays-Douglas Tire—Long, McKeachie, J. Ball, L. Bryant, 3, Stevens, 2, Travis, 2, Anderson, 2, Cullin, 3, O'varick, 1, Heberington, 1, Barr, 1, Costello, 1, Ferguson, 3, Robbins and McFadden.

Oaklands—Taylor, Rhodes, 2, Cunningham, 3, Michelin, McCaghey, 2, Turnquist, Prior, 2, Lea, Ranson, Popham, 1, Penketh, Calverly, 3, Druce, McKeachie.

Oaks got off in the right direction, taking a 4 to 1 lead in the early minutes. Then Bays un wound and tied the score just as the quarter-time horn tooted.

It was in the next quarter the Long began to shine. While his teammates outscored the Oakland men, six goals to four, the Bay goalie was really in there, blocking 11 shots. The most sensational goal of the season was scored in that period by Austin Cullin. The old Bay stand-by was dumped flat on his face, literally

Will Start At
LOS ANGELES—The Navy's decision to pull the switch on night sports on the Pacific coast apparently caught executives of colleges and the Coast Baseball League by surprise today—but one thing is certain:

Devotees of after-dark athletic entertainment are going to change their dinner hours.

President W. C. Tuttle of the Coast League, which will have a month's operation this season under the order effective Aug. 20, commented:

"Of course, 'e're more than willing to do anything in our power to help win the war. With-out doubt this will cut attendance somewhat, but experiments with twilight games at San Diego already have indicated that fans will support them almost as well as night games. I imagine there will be considerable experimentation with contests starting about 5, since all Coast League parks are within the area affected by the order."

Playing in the city championship series, the Douglas Tire smothered St. Louis College 21 to 7. Minnis was the winning hurler.

Seniors' Golf Draws Big Entry

Those grand-daddies of the Pacific Northwest golf, the seniors, will be out at the Colwood Club next week in full force. It will mark the annual tournament of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, and Secretary J. V. Perks announces he has received 114 entries to date.

Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, is the present holder of the championship, and is not definite as to whether or not he will defend his crown.

Local members are asked by the committee to assist in the transportation of visiting players from the Empress Hotel to the links and return. Another request has gone out for all the caddies available in the city to be at the scene of the tournament. This year there will be token prizes in the only and the amount saved, together with the amount saved by refreshment arrangements, will be given to the Milk for Britain Fund. During the last two years the association has donated the sum of $3,200 to the war effort.

RING INJURIES FATAL

MELBOURNE (AAP)—Struck down by a knockout blow from Young Frisco, his Filipino opponent, Cecil Overall, a leading professional boxer here, died in hospital Tuesday. He received his injuries Saturday night while defending his cruiserweight title.

Canadian Golf Opens

Ben Hogan Entered

TORONTO (CP)—The locker-room boys are wondering today if they weren't a little hasty in conceding the Canadian open to tee-sized Ben Hogan.

When Hogan toured the championship layout at the Mississauga Club a few hours after his arrival Tuesday he looked good only rarely. Hogan's score wasn't recorded, but he was nursing a fearsome hook and had trouble keeping clear of the swift-running Credit River which threads the 6,543-yard course.

Craig Wood rolled home with a 70, two under par and two over the course, record. His long, straight game seemed fitted to the narrow fairways and malicious traps.

Wood and Hogan probably will be with the large contingent of visitors touring Mississauga day.

Barr-Holmes Battle for Men's Crown

Finalists in the men's and women's rinks were decided Tuesday as the large field continued play in the 15th annual Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament. In the former H. Holmes, Burnside, and Sam Barr, Canadian Pacific Club, will meet for the championship, while the women's final will be an inter-city affair between Mrs. Mowat, Burnside, and Mrs. Roylance, Grandview, Vancouver.

In section playoffs of the men's rinks Holmes defeated Fred Davey, Canadian Pacific, 16 to 9, while Barr's rink triumphed over E. Roylance, Grandview, 19 to 14. Competition in the sections of the women's rinks was keen. Mrs. Paterson, Grandview, won section one and Mrs. Mowat section two. In sections three and four ties resulted, forcing playoffs. In the former Mrs. Roylance defeated Mrs. Myers, Burnside, while in section four a four-way tie resulted in Mrs. Munro, Victoria, finishing on top.

The final playoffs resulted in Mrs. Mowat defeating Mrs. Paterson, 22 to 12, and Mrs. Roylance eliminating Mrs. Munro, 15 to 9. Time and greens for the rinks finals will be announced later in the week.

Play opened Tuesday in the men's singles with many of the strong local contenders suffering defeat. Sam Barr was beaten by A. Findlay, who in turn, went down before B. Rickson, Courtenay. E. Myers, Burnside, was beaten by his clubmate, F. Holmes, while W. Wallace, Victoria West, was beaten by Bob Dewar, Victoria.

Tuesday's results follow:

Sport Shorts From Britain

LONDON (CP)—Thousands of dollars' worth of racing horseflesh in Britain while their French owners remain in France raised a problem of keep. Here's the answer supplied by the board of trade: When trainers decide they can no longer keep a French-owned horse they apply to the board of trade and are granted an order to sell. Proceeds are given the custodian of enemy property who pays the trainer the costs of keep since the last payment received from the owner. The balance is held by the custodian and ultimately will be included in the financial settlements of the peace treaty.

Three such valuable animals belonging to the wealthy Greek sportsman, S. Vlasto, were sold at Newmarket after the trainer said he hadn't heard from the owner since the war's start.

With the possible exception of two or three of the most outstanding, all horses purchased by A. E. Allnatt from the estate of Lord Llandy will be put up for public auction—which was the original plan before the London building contractor purchased the 134 animals in one of the biggest turf transactions for many years. ## Polack Circus Opens Today

The circus is in town! Polack Brothers Circus opened at the Willows ice arena this afternoon. Usually shown out of doors, the circus comes to the arena complete in every detail. It started with a matinee today at 2:15, with matinees to follow Friday and Saturday, and night performances at 8:30. Doors open one hour earlier.

With a large array of elephants, clowns, chimpanzees, horses and acrobats, the Polack Brothers Circus should please young and old. Only because of the large arena at the Willows is it possible to bring the circus indoors.

Among the acts are Ruben Castang's Hollywood chimpanzees; La Teresita, death-defying aerialist; the Royal Four on the silver wire; Dorothy Morales, aerial contortionist; Black Brothers, pantomime comedy stars; the Delane Sisters and Berne, aerial cradle; Patrick and his roller skates; the Great Rogers, juggler; Mona and Mary Ann, elephants, and other acts.

Under the auspices of the Gizeh Shrine Band, this circus will be offered for the benefit of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children. A special performance was given for the children at the Solarium yesterday.

Polack Brothers Circus is the only circus coming to Victoria this season. Reserve seat tickets now on sale at Terry's Drug Store.

Prairie Sailors Come to Coast

WINNIPEG (CP)—A group of about 200 Winnipeg sailors from the naval training centre H.M.C.S. Chippawa, have left here for further training on the west coast. Cmdr. E. T. C. Orde, officer commanding, was in charge of the group.

Cargo Subs Best Commission Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Questioned on his views toward Henry J. Kaiser's proposal that shipyards might be converted to cargo plane production, Matt Mills, president of the Boiler-makers and Shipbuilders Union, told the Richards Commission investigating British Columbia shipyards Tuesday that Vancouver yards might be more usefully converted to production of cargo submarines, if they are to be converted at all.

He said that freight submarine need only submerge while in danger zone, and can travel as fast on the surface as freighters.

DOMINION THEATRE

Comedy is the keynote of "Maisie Gets Her Man," new M-G-M film which is currently at the Dominion Theatre. The film, which co-stars Ann Sothern and Red Skelton, is the most successful of the series about Brooklyn-born Maisie.

Although cast as a corny vaudeville comic who doesn't quite make the grade, Skelton has never been funnier. An army camp sequence which concludes the film is one of the most hilarious scenes of the season, thanks to expert comedy talent. As Maisie, Miss Sothern has never been more brilliantly entertaining.

RIO THEATRE

Walter Brennan, three times winner of the Academy award, has another outstanding role as Tom Keefer in the new 20th Century-Fox drama, "Swamp Water," now at the Rio Theatre. Featured with him are Walter Huston, Anne Baxter and Dana Andrews.

SOCIAL DRAMA AT CAPITOL

Commencing today at the Capitol Theatre, men and women of adult age will see the opening of something that has been long eagerly awaited by theatregoers, "No Greater Sin," combining as it does entertainment with enlightenment of a distinctly salutary character.

It is a full powerful tale so eventful, so fraught with interest that it beggars the imagination to understand it in its full implications and rich depth without having seen it. It is a throbbing, vibrant document of human hopes and fears and of the story of two who thought they would never be able to laugh again, never be able to enjoy the sight of the sun shining high up in the blue heavens again; thought that something was dead within them, without which everything in life was one solid dull colorless mass.

'Louisiana Purchase' At York Tomorrow

"Louisiana Purchase," Paramount's celluloid edition in Technicolor of the Broadway comedy musical hit, opens at the York Theatre tomorrow, and the further news to report is that it has swept audiences into high good humor with its lively and hilarious comedy, its eye-filling damsel, its gorgeous settings and its Irving Berlin tunes. It can take its place with the best that heaven and Hollywood have sent us in many, many seasons.

Bob Hope is at the top of his agile-witted form; Vera Zorina is bewitching to look at and thrilling when she dances, and Victor Moore as a comedian is superbly funny, making a perfect team with Hope. The three stars are given excellent support by a featured cast including Irene Bordoni, Dona Drake, Raymond Walburn and Maxie Rosenbloom.

RIOTOUS COMEDY ON ATLAS SCREEN

The rollicking comedy situations which develop when the head of a large and ease-loving family loses the ancestral home, the furnishings and all available cash on a cock-fight, are said to provide a riot of entertainment in RKO Radio's "The Turtles of Tahiti," now at the Atlas Theatre.

Starring Charles Laughton, outstanding actor of the stage and screen, the story revolves around the family's successful efforts to recoup their fortunes, their amazing reaction to the possession of wealth, and the ultimate crash which ensues when every member of the clan comes into possession of a checkbook. A glamorous love angle is provided by Jon Hall and Peggy Drake.

James Craig at Plaza-Oak Bay

James Craig, who plays an army lieutenant in "Friendly Enemies," which will open at the Plaza and Oak Bay Theatres tomorrow, wore a uniform of World War I throughout the filming. The stand-up collar almost choked him, the knee-tight breeches made it hard to walk and the hard leather puttees put callouses on his shin bones. Said Craig: "That 1917-1918 war was awful."

TCA BUSINESS AT NEW PEAK

WINNIPEG (CP)—Passenger, air mail and express traffic on Trans-Canada Air Lines reached a new peak in June, according to the monthly report to the board of directors.

Passengers, the majority traveling on war business, totaled 10,317, an increase of 768 over May and of 7,668 over June, 1941. Total mail carried in June was 174,104 pounds, 7,684 pounds in excess over May and 55,201 pounds greater than the same month last year.

Express amounted to 27,406 pounds, compared with 22,184 pounds the previous month and 16,803 pounds in June, 1941.

Asks Picnic Grounds On Gorge Waterfront

The Gorge, a favorite summer retreat for Victorians before the advent of the automobile, may be revived to accommodate persons who are forced to stay in the city because of gasoline and tire rationing.

Alderman W. H. Davies of the parks and boulevards committee will propose at the next City Council meeting that the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee look into the matter with a view of securing if possible picnic grounds having a boat landing, tables and other facilities for the convenience of the public.

Alderman Davies pointed out that Gorge waters were rapidly regaining their popularity for boating and canoeing, largely because of the restrictions on gasoline and rubber, which have curtailed travel to more distant resorts.

Although in former years space was available for picnic purposes to persons using the Gorge waters, now most of the property is privately owned.

City Boy Gets Wings

K. D. Wellwood of Victoria was among a number of R.C.A.F. trainees to graduate from No. 3 Central Navigation School, receiving their wings from Group Capt. A. Lewis. Four other B.C. men graduated.

Jets of Water For Incendiaries

OTTAWA (CP)—The office of the director of civil air raid precautions announced today the discovery that a solid stream of water, once thought dangerous, is the most effective method of extinguishing incendiary bombs.

Heretofore, use of a spray has been the accepted method of dousing the bombs because of danger that the molten metal would explode. But today the office reported that recent tests on both sides of the Atlantic have found that a solid stream is better because:

1. It extinguishes the bomb in only a few seconds instead of several minutes—and incendiaries demand quick action.

2. Less than half as much water is needed.

3. The firefighter can play water on the bomb from a safer distance, and, if the bomb explodes, the stream from the hose will force the molten fragments away from him.

However, pouring a bucket of water on a burning bomb is still considered dangerous.

LABORATORY REPORTS

The announcement said that previous misunderstanding of incendiaries was traced to early experiments by scientists who studied the laboratory behavior of pure magnesium, which burns fiercely in water. They concluded that magnesium incendiary bombs would behave similarly. But the metal in real bombs is only 80 per cent magnesium, with the rest an alloy to make them tough enough to penetrate roofs.

Because they are not 100 per cent magnesium the bombs will not explode with any great force.

Co-operation Helps College Students

Universities across Canada are increasingly geared to the needs of the war effort. Some students work on war research projects. Others study to fill posts as engineers, doctors and technicians, either in industry or the armed forces. The government has recognized the essential nature of their labors by increased scholarships.

Efforts of the students themselves, supplement government aid in meeting the all-important question of finances. One of their most successful ventures have been the student co-operative boarding houses. Designed to provide cheap, wholesome living, they have already helped many students otherwise unable to bear the expense.

The first co-op was organized at the University of British Columbia in the session of 1939-40. In its three seasons it has extended to include 40 members in three houses.

Living costs in the co-op are much reduced over the ordinary cost of board at university, besides which the houses offer a congenial air of fellowship. Large-scale buying and the co-operative effort of the members help to effect considerable economies. The organization leases and furnishes its own houses, and has a "house mother," who acts as supervisor.

Each member is expected to perform his share of house duty—not more than half an hour daily. Administration of the group is in the hands of the students. A board of directors, which includes several members of the university staff, acts in an advisory capacity. The organization is recommended by the registrar and the Dean of Women.

Further information may be had by writing or phoning Harry Evans; 1001 Cloverdale Avenue, E 5793; or Keith Ralston, 1256 Acton Street. Application forms are available, and prospective members are urged to sign up now so plans may be made for a definite membership.

Attorney-General Favors Coroners' Act Change

Change in the Coroners' Act, to permit similar practice to that at preliminary hearings, is favored by Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C.

"I have brought this matter up several times before the Canadian Uniformity Committee on Legislation, with a view to revising Coroners' Acts throughout Canada," Mr. Maitland said.

"Proceedings should be regulated as at a preliminary hearing and counsel should be permitted in the interests of all parties and cross-examination of witnesses should be allowed."

Mr. Maitland said he knew of no coroner's jury ever sitting in camera in British Columbia.

PART ANSWER TO CLAMOR FOR AIR TRANSPORTS—U.S. troops stand at attention after disembarking, with jeep at right, from a new giant Curtiss "Commando" military transport, world's largest two-motored airliner, now in mass production for our Army Air Forces. Withholding actual number of troops and jeeps carrier, the War Department permits revealing the plane weight 25 tons fully loaded, is powered by 2,000 horsepower Pratt & Whitney engines, has wingspread of 108 feet, is designed to carry artillery, tractors, trucks, engines, gas and similar supplies as well as troops. Its speed, however, is a secret.

TOWN TOPICS

Answering the call at 4.12 Tuesday afternoon, it took the Saanich fire department two hours to extinguish an extensive grass and bush fire at Burnside and Belgrave Roads.

Monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society will be held Thursday night at 8 at the City Hall. Instructions on "taking" buds will be given by M. O. Mayhew, president.

Final reports of the Lions Club's part in the Red Cross garden party to be held at Government House, Aug. 12, will be given when the club meets for its weekly luncheon at Spencer's dining-room on Thursday.

Two motorists were fined $15 each in police court today on speeding convictions. One was fined $10 for having no automatic hand signal on his truck. Two were fined $5 each for making illegal U-turns and one was fined $5 for parking by a fire hydrant. Eight motorists were fined $2.50 each on parking charges.

At the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon, Walter Walker, Harold Dighton and the president, Alastair Campbell, were named to represent the Victoria club at the forthcoming executive meeting, to be held in Yakima, Wash., Aug. 17 and 18. The convention, scheduled for Vancouver, was canceled, due to wartime travel restrictions.

SUGAR HOARDERS FINED $40 EACH

Twelve persons at Trail have been guilty of sugar hoarding, holding more than two weeks' supply, and 11 were fined $40 and costs or 60 days in jail. Prosecutions were instituted by the War-time Prices and Trade Board's regional office and were heard before Magistrate Parker Williams.

Blast Blacklist Radio

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—A tremendous explosion early today wrecked buildings occupied by shortwave radio station CX24, which is operated by Radio Continental. Police could not find any clues immediately. The station is on United States and British blacklists for dealing with the enemy.

Gas Masks on Order

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (CP)—Every citizen here is to be supplied with a gas mask, it was announced today after a meeting of the Charlottetown A.R.P. committee. It was indicated it would be some time before the masks are available here.

New U.S. War Insurance

NEW YORK (AP)—United States civilians will be offered a new type of war accident policy, with a fixed yearly premium of $5, by a group of 60 health and accident insurance companies, starting next Monday. The premium will apply to any person, regardless of age or occupation, and the policy will pay $5,000 to beneficiaries if the insured is killed in a direct enemy attack or in an attempt to repel such an attack.

Give Realism

Norse Fliers to Appear in Film

Five Norwegian fliers who will lend actual experience in fighting the Nazis in Norway to the filming of the Lester Cowan movie production "The Commandos Come at Dawn," arrived today from an eastern Canadian air training base.

All of them escaped from Norway after the German invasion and made their way by devious routes to safety in Great Britain.

Because the Norwegian fliers still have members of their families in Norway they requested that their names be withheld. Three of them escaped in small fishing vessels to cross the North Sea and land in England. The other two fled through Sweden, Finland, Russia, Turkey and South Africa.

These Norwegians will join the service men of Canada who have been loaned to the Lester Cowan Company to give realism to the raid sequences of "The Commandos Come at Dawn," now being filmed on location here.

COMMANDOS SWARM ASHORE

Today shots were being taken of the raid in which British commandos swarmed ashore from invasion barges.

Players and extras, numbering several hundred, will take part in these scenes during the remainder of the week. Paul Muni, Anna Lee who plays opposite him in the feminine lead; Little Ann Carter and P.O. Robert Coote, R.C.A.F. leader of the commandos, will be seen in feature roles in these sequences.

A complete Norwegian village has been built at Stacey's on Finlayson Arm, Saanich Inlet, where the chief raid scenes of the picture will be shot.

This village, located at the base of rocky cliffs, typical of a Norwegian fjord, will be the action location of "The Commandos Come at Dawn."

A.R.P. ACTIVITIES

District 1, Saanich—The monthly meeting of wardens will be held in the St. George's Mission Hall, Cadboro Bay, Aug. 7, at 8. All wardens and others interested are urged to attend.

ANOTHER DOOLITTLE—The determined looking young man behind this machine gun is John Doolittle, son of Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, who led bombing raid on Tokio. A "plebe" at West Point, he's pictured during one of the intense manoeuvres which are now playing so large a part in the Military Academy's new, wartime curriculum.

Engineers Move Grant H.E. Bomb At A.R.P. Test

A scale model of a 500-pound aerial bomb of the type used by the R.A.F. on German cities and similar to the bombs used by the Nazi Luftwaffe on London, Coventry and Bath during the Battle of Britain, will be extracted by Royal Canadian Engineers this evening from a vacant lot at Pandora and Blanshard Streets.

The squad will remove the bomb as part of a public demonstration in connection with the city-wide A.R.P. practice. Edward Savannah will describe over a public address system the work of the engineers, which will be supervised by Lieut. E. Churchill.

According to members of the R.C.E. at Work Point Barracks who built it, the bomb would, were it real and dropped on Victoria, make a crater 16 feet wide and eight feet deep. The explosion of the 500 pounds of TNT, with which a real bomb of this type is filled, would level any medium-sized office building or hotel in Victoria.

Not a building would be left standing were the bomb to drop in the middle of a block of ordinary wooden houses. Windows, if unopened when the bomb exploded, would be broken for an area of 200 yards around the crater of the bomb.

MAY BE TIME BOMB

The bomb removal squad this evening will not know whether the bomb failed to go off or whether it is a delayed-action bomb. By the use of stethoscopes, similar to those used by physicians in testing their patient's heart, they will determine whether there is any time explosion mechanism in the bomb.

When this has been determined, engineers will dig the bomb from the ground and raise it up with derricks built on trucks for the purpose.

A.R.P. officers said it was important for householders to have blackout protection on their windows because were a bomb like this to fall in Victoria the concussion of the explosion would break windows, and flying glass, it was found in England during the blitz, was the cause of more than 50 per cent of the casualties.

The bomb incident will be only part of the mass A.R.P. practice in which more than 2,800 persons attached to the city A.R.P. organization will take part.

Staffs at St. Joseph's and the Royal Jubilee Hospital will attend to "casualties" caused by more than 60 "incidents" throughout Victoria. More than a score of ambulances will be used to take "ambulances" to hospitals and first aid points and posts.

Regular and auxiliary firemen will go into action to extinguish a fire in a burning hut erected behind the Crystal Garden. Supposing the regular water mains were broken, firemen will pump water from the swimming pool to extinguish the blaze.

PUMP WATER 2,000 FEET

Also to demonstrate how fires could be extinguished were the water mains broken by bombs, firemen will pump water more than 2,000 feet from the sea at the Island Tug and Barge wharf at the foot of Humboldt Street, to the Parliament Buildings. Two pumps will be used to secure the necessary pressure for fire-fighting.

Other spectacular "incidents" will include the rescuing of persons from trapped buildings with the fire department's aerial ladder and the lowering of a "casualty" from the roof of a building with the Hind stretcher, an ironing-board-like stretcher specially designed for A.R.P. rescue work. Hundreds of wardens and auxiliary firemen will be on hand.

Circus Gets Seal

Although there is keen rivalry among showmen there is a lot of friendship too. When Polack Bros. Circus suffered the loss of its trained seals in Seattle through poisoning, pretty Judy Spiller, their trainer, was without an act and the show was missing a great attraction and one of its most entertaining turns.

A friendly circus owner came to the rescue and provided Judy with a well-trained seal "Oceana." The new seal will perform all this week with balancing and acrobatic stunts.

Also new to the show will be Collins and Bailey, a clever hand-balancing duo.

Following a big banner "Welcome Polack Bros. Circus to Victoria," Nellie Small's Girls' Pipe Band led the circus parade this afternoon with the two elephants attracting much attention.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

A meeting of the old and new executive of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was held Tuesday in the hall, with the president, Wendy Perkins, in the chair.

Program was outlined as follows:

Aug. 11—Bowling. Members to meet at 7.30 at the alleys. Arrangements, Joan Brice.

Aug. 18—Annual summer dance of the Victoria and District Local Council, Crystal Garden, upper ballroom, 8.30.

Aug. 26—Corn feed, Willow beach; 20 members of H. forces, to be entertained. Arrangements, Cora Manton.

Sept. 1—Executive meeting the new executive.

Sunday the A.Y.P.A. again will take charge of entertaining the forces.

has too many, oftener he has too few.

Counteracting this to some extent is the new hiring method that went in force as he stepped into office. Formerly stevedores here searched for work along the docks and as often as not failed to find it. Now their nomadic instincts are being curbed.

As in factories, these men will be listed as regular employees and divided into permanent gangs with gang-bosses. In this way waterfront officials will know how many men they have on hand and will not have to depend on the odd chance that sufficient numbers will turn up as the need arises.

Mr. MacDonald believes this method will be to the advantage of all, not just the port. Stevedores, he says, will be benefited by the assurance of steadier and more equal incomes and the fact that they will be shielded from an unequal distribution of labor.

SPEED UNLOADING
The Controller's authority will overlap into other port departments. If a railway car is not being unloaded rapidly enough he has the right to take steps to see it is. If a ship is not docked at a spot where it can be conveniently handled by the stevedores, he can re-dock it. But Mr. MacDonald believes in negotiating, keeping the big stick discreetly in the background.

Assisting him with the more technical aspects of his work will be the port loading superintendent, John L. Green, of Montreal, a contracting stevedore of great experience in American and Canadian ports, and C. W. Train, V.C., secretary of the shipping federation of British Columbia, as chief dispatcher in charge of new hiring arrangements.

Mr. MacDonald emphasized that his new set-up was a strictly wartime measure that could be scrapped at the request of all parties concerned—with the coming of peace. But until that day comes, or until his system proves a failure, the dapper dark controller plans to keep ships of the allied merchant fleet scurrying over the water, carrying with as little delay as possible the goods that keep Britain fighting.

For some time he acted as research assistant with the Duncan Commission and later went to Toronto, where he operated a private law practice for about four years. For another year he taught law at Osgoode Hall, coming back to Halifax in 1934 to take the place of Angus L. MacDonald, now minister for naval affairs, on the staff of Dalhousie Law School, of which he became dean.

VACATION PROJECT
Controller MacDonald has not given up his post as dean. As yet his work as Port Controller is a vacation project and he will not say which job will be forsaken when the fall term rolls around. Right now the school has taken a back seat as its dean climbs out of his gown to straighten out affairs along the waterfront. His powers are extremely elastic—so much so "they are frightening," he said.

But his biggest worry is labor. In his duty as chief unplugging of loading bottlenecks he has to find men to get the goods off and on the ships. Sometimes he

Traces Exploits Of Polish Sub

TORONTO (CP)—The odyssey of the Polish submarine Orzel, whose shortlived career made world headlines in the early days of the present war, is told in the book "Orzel's Patrol," by Sub-Lt. Erzk Sopocko, former member of the crew of the submarine which sent the German liner Rio de Janeiro to the bottom of the Baltic.

Sopocko traces the path of the Orzel from Sept. 1, 1939, when she slipped anchor and stole out of the harbor of Gdynia while the first waves of the Luftwaffe were ravaging Poland, to the day a Polish Admiralty communique announced her presumed loss.

Numbered in the exploits which brought world fame to the Orzel was the feat of the young commanding officer who charted a course from Esthonia through the perilous northern seas to Britain after charts and navigation books had been confiscated by Esthonian officials.

Unable to communicate with any home port, the Orzel put into the Esthonian port of Tallin for repairs the 12th day after the escape from Gdynia. International convention entitled the submarine to 24 hours in the neutral port, but Esthonian authorities announced their intention of immobilizing the submarine and internment her crew.

PLANNED ESCAPE

An elaborate plan of escape was formulated and the Esthonian's disarmament of the ship cautiously impeded. Resorting to various subterfuges, the crew kept the Orzel's torpedoes intact and escaped their hosts, but with a damaged ship, no guns, charts or navigation instruments. Blindly they started a four-week prowl of the mine-infested Baltic and North Seas. Following the fall of Poland, the Orzel carried on from an English base as part of the United Nations' fleet in a sector allotted to her by the Polish Admiralty.

JUNGLE MARCHES FOR MEN IN BURMA RETREAT—It was no path of roses for Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell and his small band of men during their retreat through dense jungles while the Japanese were overrunning Burma. Gen. Stilwell, now head of U.S. forces in China, made the 140-mile journey from Burma to India in 20 days. Official U.S. Army photo.

Even in the serie setting of these underwater adventures and constant danger no amount of understatement can disguise Sopocko's tribute to the Orzel and her crew is told without melodrama. "Each man was convinced that he stood guard over a portion of free Polish soil—that the ship was for the time being his only patrimony," he writes. "These words speak for themselves and explain certain principles of conduct which it is not necessary to enlarge on now."

April 7, 1940, a few miles off the still-free coast of Norway, the submarine achieved her first triumph with the sinking of the Rio de Janeiro. The Nazi liner carried 400 German troops and war material, presumably being taken to Norway for the imminent invasion.

This sinking brought a chase which carried the Orzel hundreds of miles over the Baltic and North Seas before she eluded her pursuers.

UNDER THE SEA

This true story of the hunter hunted—of hours of lying in wait hundreds of feet under the sea in the atmosphere of the sealed thing which might at any moment become a tomb—is thrilling beyond the imagination of any 20th century Verne. The constant throb and crash of depth charges dropped by the patrolling Nazis threatened always to send tons of water in on the crew. "There were moments when I face the end full of courage and determination," Sopocko wrote in his diary. "I can picture to myself how the finish will come. . . . I shorten the next period of waiting (between depth charges) by adding up the number of explosions that have been wasted trying to destroy us."

The Orzel returned to its British base and Sopocko was transferred to another ship and later "the Polish Admiralty in London issued the following communique: 'Owing to lack of information and being long overdue, the Polish submarine Orzel is presumed lost.'"

CAPT. T. V. HILL

Capt. Thomas V. Hill, former commander of the Canadian-Australasian motor liner Aorangi, one of the most widely-known and best-liked deep-sea skippers on the Pacific, passed to his final anchorage Tuesday at Vancouver.

He was 61 years of age, having retired from the sea about a year ago.

Known to his many friends as "Mickey," Capt. Hill was a rugged, port-rumped seaman, a man of genial disposition and sterling worth, a seagoing raconteur.

He made friends wherever he went and was most popular with his passengers. During his many years of voyaging across the Pacific between Australia, New Zealand and British Columbia he was

GULF ISLANDS FERRY CO. LTD.

BUS ACCOMMODATION IS CUT

Demands being made on "COACH LINES" bus services to all Island points are increasing every day.

More and more coaches are being required to supply transportation for war workers to their jobs; for the Armed Forces on leave and furlough; for civilian travelers on essential trips; and we must be ready for urgent troop movements at all times.

This means that on some week-ends you may be inconvenienced, crowded or delayed. If you are, please be lenient—and co-operative. Help us to do a good job—travel during the mid-week and avoid rush periods and holidays. DON'T TRAVEL BY BUS—ON WEEK-ENDS.

shipboard host to many of the world's notables. He counted newspapermen among his friends and was never too busy to meet ship reporters in his topside cabin and tip them off to a new story.

DREDGING ADVOCATE

He took a great interest in the port of Victoria and its development and was a consistent advocate of improved docking facilities, his pet subject being the dredging and maintenance of a clear channel at the ocean docks here for the safe berthing of ocean passenger liners.

Although a mariner by profession, Capt. Hill was a farmer at heart. Whenever he took his holidays he got as far away from the sea as possible and spent his time on his farm among his horses.

He was in failing health when the present World War broke out and shortly afterwards he retired and came to Vancouver to reside with his second wife, a Canadian, whom he met on a trans-Pacific voyage. His first wife died some years ago in Australia.

BORN IN NEW ZEALAND

A native of New Zealand, Capt. Hill served his apprenticeship on windships flying the house flag of the Craig Line, his first ship being the barque, Royal Tor.

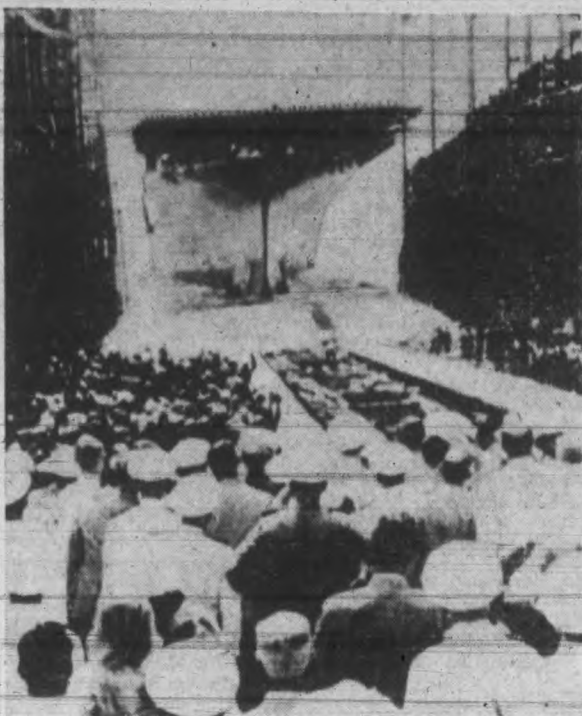

He joined the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, operators of the Canadian-Australasian Line, in 1904, as fourth officer of the liner Manuka. His first command was Ss. Komada and he commanded the liners Marana and Niagara, later sunk by a mine, before succeeding Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown on the Aorangi.

When he went into retirement, Capt. Hill completed 44 years at sea. Funeral services will be held at Vancouver tomorrow. The rites will be followed by cremation.

Admiral Purvis Deputy Sea Lord

LONDON (CP)—Admiral Sir Charles Kennedy-Purvis has been appointed Deputy First Sea Lord and assumed his new duties July 29 after having relinquished command of a foreign station, A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today.

Mr. Alexander said the post was created to handle administrative duties of the First Sea Lord in order that the latter might devote the maximum time to planning operation duties.

ONE ANSWER TO AXIS SEA MENACE—Without benefit of fanfare or formal launching ceremonies, the first of America's growing fleet of aircraft carriers to be launched since Pearl Harbor, the U.S.S. Essex, slides down the ways of the Newport News shipyard, Norfolk, Va., and on her way to fight the Axis. She's the first of 11 in her 35,000-ton class.

Steel Probe in U.S. Ordered

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Two investigations were promised today into charges made before a congressional subcommittee here that a "black market" in steel existed where "immediate delivery was made" from "bulging warehouses scattered over the nation."

Price Administrator Leon Henderson in Washington ordered an immediate probe by the office of price administration of charges made Tuesday by Frank Higgins, associated with his father, A. J. Higgins, in shipbuilding here, that his company had bought steel from such markets at higher premiums.

Prior to Henderson's order, President Roosevelt at a Washington press conference said he thought persons who sold steel in such markets should go to jail and that the charges should be investigated.

The second investigation was promised by Rep. J. H. Pendergast (Dem., Mo.), chairman of the House subcommittee investigating the maritime commission's cancellation last month of the A. J. Higgins contract to build 200 Liberty ships because of an alleged steel shortage.

"We got the steel from warehouses all over the country," Higgins said. "They know even before we do that we'll get certain contracts and they send us lists of what we'll need to fill the contracts. They send us these lists before we know what contracts we will get."

A. J. Higgins said there was no way of knowing what the premium price of such steel would be, adding that sometimes the bill carried "delivery charges" or charges for "wear and tear on tires."

"I don't see what all the excitement is about," he asserted. "Everyone who knows anything about steel or building knows of this market, and the fact that warehouses are bulging with steel which is sold in slightly less than carlots at premium prices and the buyer's priority rating used to replenish the supply."

Frank Higgins told the committee there was nothing illegal in the transaction.

10 Seamen Missing

AN EAST COAST U.S. PORT (AP)—Ten American seamen were listed as missing when a United States cargo vessel was torpedoed during the first part of July 200 miles off the New England coast, and survivors who landed here declared the 47 crewmen who were saved literally had to fight their way clear of their suddenly-blazing ship.

Five of the 31 men brought to this port required hospital treatment after being rescued by a United Nations ship. A second rescue ship was reported to have picked up 16 other seamen.

Halibut Treaty Violation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nine San Francisco fishermen were accused Tuesday of catching halibut in violation of a convention between the United States and Canada for the preservation of halibut in the north Pacific and Bering Sea. The fish were caught last October.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Davis said it was the first case of its kind in northern California.

RETURNING TO CANADA—Major Victor E. Duclos, Canadian trade commissioner in Shanghai, is now on his way to his home in Montreal with his wife and two children. He is the son of Mr. Justice Duclos of Montreal.

Shipyard Commission Sits Here Next Week

The Richards Commission investigating shipyard conditions in British Columbia will sit in Victoria either Monday or Tuesday of next week, J. H. Ellison, president of the Joint Shipyard Council, has been advised by the secretary of the Vancouver council.

The commission, it is expected, will hold its sessions at the Parliament Buildings.

Ship Fire Caused By Short Circuit

SEATTLE (AP)—On completion of an investigation today the 13th United States Naval District announced that a fire Monday night had caused minor damage on an escort vessel coming to completion in the Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Corp. plant at Tacoma.

The blaze was caused by a short circuit and was quickly extinguished, the navy said. Two workmen were treated for smoke fumes but did not require hospital treatment. The investigation revealed no evidence of sabotage, the announcement said.

SALVAGING COLLIER—Cranes are unloading the 2,600 tons of coal from the holds of the sunken Ss. Coalhaven, which lies in 30 feet of water in the Welland ship canal at Thorold. It is expected that the vessel will refloat when the cargo has been removed and the hull pumped out. Shifting cargo was believed to have caused the mishap.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks were under mild selling pressure in today's market, with a few leaders showing losses of big fractions to a point or more. As the close approached there was some tendency toward improvement.

Most spectacular performance of the day came in the curb market, where four preferred issues of Empire Gas and Fuel, under stimulus of approval of a recapitalization plan by the Securities and Exchange Commission, moved up as much as 10.

Canadian issues were fractionally lower. Dome Mines dropped 1/4, Hiram Walker 1/8 and Distillers Seagram 1/4.

Dorothy Dix:

Why Are Little Dumbbells The First to Get Married?

Dear Miss Dix—Will you please explain why the girls who were the biggest dumbbells in school are the first to get married. Also, why do the great majority of men prefer to go out with and marry the girls with inferior intelligence and character rather than the superior girls? Of course, men assert that they admire and respect the superior girls, but they don't date them or show any haste to marry them. Why?

MARIAN.

Answer: A serpent on a rock and the way of a man with a maid have been set down in holy writ as two of the inscrutable mysteries of life; so we have to let it go at that and can only guess the answer.

Certainly no one can deny that men, taking them by and large, seem to relish feminine brains only when they are scrambled. It is a matter of record that a college degree is a definite matrimonial handicap, and that for a girl to have a reputation of being a highbrow scares the men off quicker than a scandal. Nobody, in recommending a girl to a boy, would be foolish enough to tell him how smart and well educated she was. He or she would praise the outside of her head and descend on her beautiful eyes and peaches-and-cream complexion and golden hair, and say nothing about what is inside it.

Undeniably, before marriage men prefer nitwits, but after marriage it is a different story. Then, after having picked out a silly little goose for a wife, the husband expects her to turn into an owl and to be wise enough to entertain him and manage her affairs with intelligence. And it's because men marry little sillies and expect them to act like Hetty Greens that we have so many whining husbands going around complaining that their wives do not understand them and that they are mismanaged.

EASY TO UNDERSTAND IF—

If all the little sillies were beauties and all the intellectual girls were homely, it would be easy to understand why the dumb dories win out, but such is not the case. Nature is a pretty just old dame, after all, and she distributes her supply of soulful eyes and naturally curly hair and Grecian profiles with an even hand between the smart and the dull, so that the girl with brains is just as likely to look like a bathing beauty as the one without.

Indeed, if there is any favoritism, the girl who has brains gets the advantage, for no clever woman ever can be as ugly as a stupid one. There is always something in her face that redeems it, no matter what kind of features she has.

Hence the mystery of why men prefer little Flossie Addlepate to Miss Minerva can't be explained on the grounds of looks, so we have to fall back upon the theory that little Flossie's appeal is to men's vanity and that they choose her instead of her superior sister because they like women they can look down upon better than women they have to look up to.

Little Flossie's vocabulary may consist of only one phrase: "Oh, how big and strong and wonderful you are," but it's enough. It gets her man, and that's why she can marry all around the intelligent girl who knows as much or more than the boy friend.

Average Life of a Human Hair Is About Three Years

Fish have scales, birds have feathers and mammals have hair. That, in a general way, divides three great branches of the animal kingdom.

Of all the mammals, the whales come closest to having no hair. Young whales have bristles about their snouts and mouths, but these are lost in later life, except in the case of the humpback whale.

Elephants have little hair. If we did not look closely, we might suppose there was no hair on their hides, but all elephants have at least a few hairs. African elephants are more hairy than Indian elephants.

Most kinds of animals are covered, or almost covered, with hair. Think of the hair on a tiger or a lion, a dog or a pony, a sheep or a cow!

The chief value of hair is to keep an animal warm. It guards against chill winds. Many animals can be comfortable in the open, even when the temperature goes below zero.

Usually we speak of an animal's hair as "fur," but that is not always the case. The quills of a porcupine are hair of a certain kind, and so are the bristles of a hog and the whiskers of a cat. The covering of a domesticated animal seldom is called fur.

Human beings have hair, but not fur. Almost every part of the human body is covered with hair, but for the most part it is very short. If you look hard enough, with a good light, you will find small hairs, even on the under part of the forearm.

On the palms of your hands, however, you will not find any hairs, no matter how hard you look. Neither will you find any on the soles of your feet.

The best growth of hair is about the head. Many babies have "a good head of hair" at the time they are born. A greater number are bald, or almost bald, at birth, but hair grows on their heads before long.

The hair on a baby's head is commonly lost within the first year of his life, but new hairs take the place of the old ones. In later life, a person keeps losing his hair, but not so fast, and new hairs grow unless the person becomes bald.

The average life of a human hair is about three years. Some hairs, however, live only a year or two and others live four or five years.

Rear seats in future cars are expected to be six feet wide, giving space for a full-length couch or bed.

U.S. Pacific Coast Ordered to Dimout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The United States army today ordered a dimout of the entire Pacific coast, so vast and drastic in scope as to approach the proportions of a blackout.

It called a halt to baseball and other outdoor sports at night, ordered every electric sign and theatre marquee extinguished and prescribed some form of shielding for almost every other type of exterior lighting.

IN FORCE AUG. 20

The regulations, defined in a proclamation by Lieut. Gen. J. L. De Witt, commanding the 4th Army and western defence command, will become effective Aug. 20.

Covering a strip of western Washington, Oregon and California at some points as much as 150 miles wide, they have the effect of extending and tremendously augmenting the dimout order requested by the navy last spring for certain ocean front sections.

The proclamation creates a zone of restricted lighting, which Gen. De Witt said the present situation requires as a matter of military necessity. He called attention to attacks on ships traveling in coastal waters and attacks on land installations.

All ornamental lighting of every description is ordered extinguished. This includes ball games, billboards, floodlighting and unobscured display windows. All parks of the Pacific Coast Baseball League are within the area affected by the order.

TO SHIELD STREET LIGHTS

Remaining lights, including traffic signals and street lights, must be shielded so as not to be visible from above.

Lights visible from the sea must be shielded on the ocean side, including draping of residential windows.

Exception is made for navigation lights for air and water travel and railroad signals.

Cognizance is taken of industrial plant problems, but the order calls for as great shielding as possible to reduce vertical illumination to a minimum.

Automobiles are required to reduce their lights to about half the dim or city driving light strength.

The army order provides for criminal prosecution and exclusion of any violator from the western defence command area.

There was no indication among military authorities in British Columbia today that Canada planned a coastal dimout as drastic as that ordered for the U.S. Pacific coast. A modified dimout has been in effect for several months along the coast of this province.

No exterior lighting such as advertising signs and porch lights are permitted in B.C.'s "vulnerable" area, and interior lights visible from the street such as advertising displays may not be left unattended. Isolated communities along the coast which are out of touch with larger centres are required to observe even stricter regulations.

There has been no restriction so far on night baseball and other sports requiring the use of floodlights in British Columbia.

Australia Short Of Shoe Leather

MELBOURNE (AAP)—The government announced today that the current beer quota will be continued and enforced more stringently and at the same time warned the populace that the leather supply for shoes is running low.

The decision to continue the beer quota was reached at a meeting of the federal cabinet. The Commonwealth earlier this year had ordered a cut of one-third in beer production, but figures issued today showed the actual cut was from 9,373,000 gallons monthly to 7,201,000.

The government announced it is impossible to supply sufficient sole leather or substitutes to care for all civilian needs. It is urgent, the announcement said, that residents take the best possible care of their footwear, reduce repair requirements to a minimum and cheerfully accept substitutes.

The shortage has arisen because of the demands of the Allied forces, which absorb 75 per cent or more of the better quality shoe leather.

Enemy Railways Raked

Ruhr Valley Plants Blasted By R.A.F.

LONDON (CP)—British bombers attacked targets in Germany's Ruhr Valley Tuesday night, while fighter command planes raided railroads and other objectives in occupied territory, the Air Ministry announced today.

Two R.A.F. planes—a bomber and a fighter—were lost in the night operations.

Fighters and fighter-bombers, following up the night raids, made a morning sweep over the English Channel in clear weather.

The Germans sent small forces of raiders against south and southwest England and south Wales Tuesday night and six enemy bombers were destroyed, indicating a high score for Britain's secret new anti-aircraft defences.

It was reported reliably the Germans were dropping fire bombs with a new-type metal container, details of which were not disclosed. Some of the new-type incendiaries have been turned over to civil defence personnel so that studies may be made in how to deal with them.

Tuesday night's raid on Germany was the first this month by R.A.F. planes, which had been weatherbound.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, the man behind Britain's mighty fighter sweeps, and Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert, coastal command chief, will be able to add their voices to the "scourge" threat, pronounced against the Germans by Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris.

They will be able to do this "if and when it is in the public interest to do so," Capt. Harold Balfour, Under-secretary for Air, informed the Commons today.

The Harris broadcast, criticized Tuesday in the House of Lords, was brought up in the House by Wing Cdr. Norman Hulbert, Conservative member for Stockport, who asked if it was proposed to give facilities for the chiefs of the fighter and coastal commands to broadcast details of the potential attacking force under their command, in the same manner as Air Marshal Harris had warned the Germans of the attacks they are likely to receive from his bomber command.

Capt. Balfour said facilities would be arranged for the fighter and coastal heads and other air officers commanding-in-chief, and added no detailed information which could be of the slightest operational value to the enemy about Britain's attacking force had or would be broadcast.

He reiterated a statement by the Earl of Selborne, Minister of Economic Warfare, in the House of Lords that the Harris broadcast had the approval of the government.

Want Ban Lifted

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Trades and Labor Council was on record today as urging the Dominion government to implement immediately the report of the Commons committee on civil liberties, which urged that the ban on the Communist Party, Jehovah's Witnesses and a number of other organizations be lifted. A resolution stating this stand was given unanimous endorsement by the council Tuesday night.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Aged Pensioners Picnic at Beacon Hill

CARRY THEIR YEARS LIGHTLY—George Crook, 82; Mrs. George Crook, 83; Mrs. T. Robertson, 70, and T. Robertson, 76.

Victoria old age pensioners enjoyed their third annual outdoor picnic Tuesday afternoon in Beacon Hill Park. Starting at 2, the outing was a social get-together, where friends sat and talked and sang in a community sing-song, led by F. T. Laverly and his one-man band.

The ladies brought the lunch, and tea was made on the brick fireplace. F. Hardisty, secretary, was in charge of the afternoon's program.

Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., who recalled the words of Hon. Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to Washington, before the House of Commons in May to the effect that Canada is 30 years behind the times in the matter of old age pensions.

Mrs. Hodges expressed the hope that this Dominion would bring the act nearer to conformity with that of New Zealand, which pays its old pensioners $30 a month at the age of 60, without deductions for insurance, annuities, for a home owned and lived in by the recipient, and $2000 cash capital, providing their private income, if any, does not exceed $20 per month.

Mrs. Hodges deplored the humiliation often caused old age pensioners in the course of investigations, and spoke of the measures contemplated by the provincial government to remove the administration from the Workmen's Compensation Board. She paid tribute to British Columbia's record for being in the van of social legislation, recalling that this province was the first in the field to bring in old age pensions and is paying the highest pension in the Dominion.
